TYNDENADG RESERVE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The weather was so unpropitious on Sunday last that it was deemed expedient to postpone the Missionary meetings of the parish to a future date. We believe that more successful meetings would be held in the early autumn—weather better and money more plentiful.

The entertainment of the Christ Church Young People's Association, held on Tuesday evening at the parsonage, was a success in every sense of the word.

Money must be of the world. A George street merchant could not afford to buy a 15c. ticket to assist a good cause.

The regular monthly meeting of the Indian Rights Association was held on Tuesday last with a very full attendance of members.

The Rev. F. T. Dibb, M.D., officiated in the church of the Reserve on Sunday next, Feb. 5th.

Mr. Sam. Gardner, who is visiting here, is in quite poor health.

Miss Minnie Gardner, we are sorry to hear, is quite sick. Dr. Cryan has charge of the case and we hope to hear of her speedy recovery.

Mr. Arthur Rythymire, after a couple of months spent among friends in Victoria, has returned.

Mr. O. Osborne, of New York, was a guest at Mr. Gardner's over Sunday.

Miss Lillie Weldon, of Mariposa, is visiting friends here.

Miss Clara Crawford spent a few days with her friend, Miss Eliza Smith, of Deseronto, last week.

Mr. R. J. Sprague, of Pictou, is visiting her friends here.

Mr. &amp; Mrs. John Crawford are attending court, as witnesses, in Belleville, this week.

Our January show came along on Sunday evening, the 28th inst., for the purpose of raising half the forenoon but turned out in the afternoon, to the sorrow of those whose sisters were dry.

Mr. Sam. Gardner is in Belleville on Tuesday.

Mrs. White has returned from her visit to Foxboro.

MELROSE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

(Too late for last week.)

Mrs. F. J. Northrup, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. McKinnay.

Miss B. Clapp, of Carletonville, has been visiting friends in this vicinity during the past week.

A lodge of Patrons of Industry was organized on Tuesday evening, on the 4th inst., and a meeting will be held here on Saturday evening, the 28th inst., for the purpose of starting one in this section. Mr. C. J. Palmer, of Belvidere, is the organizer.

Mr. W. Mandell, Jr., left for Montreal last Saturday evening, on the purpose of acting as a keeper for Bickelick &amp; Co., wholesale butchers in that city.

The Messrs. Hoover, of Pictou, are busily engaged in packing apples for this section for Mr. T. Brown, of Bloomfield.

Mr. Ed. Simpkins, of Pictou, is a large number of his friends by giving an oyster supper at his residence last Friday evening. A very pleasant time was spent in dancing and other social amusements.

Messrs. J. McCullough and A. McFarlane are engaged this week in auditing the Township Treasurer's accounts.

WESTBROOK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

It is rumored there will be a new cheese factory built in this vicinity this year.

The young people are enjoying the good sleighing.

Miss Jennie Marsh, was the guest of Miss Maggie Sheehan last week.

Mr. A. Howard had a bee last Wednesday drawing wood and it was attended by a quiet number of pleasure seekers.

A patrol social at Mr. M. McDonald's, on Friday evening, was a pleasant event. The spacious house was thronged with a company of pleasure seekers.

Mr. George Gates has gone to Kingston to learn the trimmings there with J. McCutcheon.

Mr. Howe has delivered a large number of cords of wood to the brick yards.

Mr. D. Sheehan and sister party of last week visiting friends in Marysville.

Mr. John Grant, an old and respected resident, passed away Sunday morning at the advanced age of 82 years.

Mr. &amp; Mrs. Robert McCracken, of Camden, are renewing old acquaintances here.

SOLMESVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. Jacob Foster, at Belleville hospital, is reported to be no better.

Mr. Frank Holmes hauled his peas to Belleville this week.

Mr. Edgar Lambert is recovering from his illness and will be about in a few days.

The water is so low in the pond that Father's mill cannot be compelled to shut down for a short time.

Everyone is busy drawing wood and other material while the sleighing continues good.

Master Solmes, of Pictou, is visiting his grandfather, D. B. Solmes, Esq.

Mr. &amp; Mrs. George Fraser, and daughter, of Pictou, are visiting at Mr. John Lambert's.

The Methodist church here having been completely renovated, will be reopened on Sunday, Feb. 14th, next, by M. Lamb, chairman of the district, and Rev. S. J. Shorey, of Napanee, will be preaching on that day at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. On Monday evening there will be a tea-meeting at the schoolhouse. All invited as there will be a first-class programme and a splendid spread.

Mr. George Anderson has been drawing his wheat to Deseronto where he gets 70 cts.

MAJORS EXPEDITORIAL is a daily 1 Pina and in the taste of the day, it is under the stomach. Children cry for it. Wives look pleasant after taking it. Old people brighten up and feel young again. Coughs and colds disappear in a short order where it is used. Try it.

Get your note paper and envelopes at Egan's, where you get value for your money.

KINGSTON PENITENTIARY.

There are only thirty-three life men.

There is one infidel, one Quaker, two Salvationists, two Methodists, 194 Catholics, 74 Anglicans, 63 Presbyterians, 58 Presbyterians, 22 Baptists and other religion, 20.

Hastings has sixteen representatives, Prince Edward county, Lennox &amp; Addington county, Lennox &amp; Addington county, 108.

The majority confined are laborers, carpenters, farmers. There are twenty-seven total abstainers, 106 intemperate; 340 temperate. There are six indolent confined; 340 are single men; only ninety-four can neither read nor write. There are eighteen men over sixty years of age. The value of the property in stock reaches $1,000,000.87. The year's expenses were $132,385.51. The tobacco used cost $1,200. The men "chained," 2,400 lbs. The officers' mess cost $1,364. The convicts read 12,613 books. The library contains 3,051 volumes. The labor of the convicts was worth $38,446.40. The rate is 40c. per day. The women's workmen paid $1,748 at 30c. per day. Two convicts were returned last year for the fourth time, and six for the third time.

HARROWSMITH AND SYDENHAM RAILWAY.

Operations on this little spur are now stopped.

Several men out of work that can ill afford to be idle, owing to a chronic and inherent impediment that is very hard to remedy, for the temperature of the individuals involved. Those who follow public works for a living and have been faithful and effective workers on the line from the stoppage most. Others—farmers and farmers' sons—can go home, chop wood, and get carried by their wives and mamma but the poor navvies, who really do the important work on railways, must suffer and sorely wince from the effects of hunger and Jack Frost. It is a terror to contemplate that these poor men must endure through the long biting blast of winter in virtue, no doubt, of their own improvidence; but, enough of this. Mr. Stenwood, who is a most capable gentleman, must have had some tangible and economical cause for shutting down the work, otherwise than lack of amount done, for everybody well knows that winter is the best time for disintegrating and shifting rock, of which there is yet plenty on the line. The writer never saw rock going out faster than it did last month, by the comparatively small number of men, under the skillful, staid foreman, Mr. Molloy. Although I worked for him last summer, cannot throw thenceabouts about him, save for the just principles he seems to possess, that of working hard for employers. I know well constructing a railway is, and I won't submit to any foreman when I know he is wrong.

DUMPMAN.

Blessington.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The skating season has now arrived.

A large audience greeted the public singers at Bethany church, on Canon street, on Thursday evening.

Miss L. Foster, of Foxboro, spent last week at the guest of Miss Blanche Robinson.

Miss Emma Ross, of Thurlow, was married on Wednesday last to Mr. Harry Benmore, of Belleville.

Parties in this vicinity, who have been so severely relieved of martingale rings and other small wares, would like to have these articles returned by the merchant without further trouble.

A number of young people attended an oyster supper at Canilun church, on Tuesday evening.

Ho! Every one that can sing! Call on your druggist and get Magnus Expeditor, the King of cough mixtures.

A new standard for recruits for the British army has been set in regulations just issued.
A recruit will be accepted if he stands five feet four inches in his stockings, measures thirty-three inches round the chest and weighs 130 pounds. If any candidate does not reach this standard, but appears otherwise promising to the recruiting officer, he may be accepted.

The Dominion parliament was opened Thursday, Jan. 25th. The speech from the throne contained nothing of a revolutionary character. The speech contained a move amendment which was voted down by 103 to 3. The tariff appears to be the question of the day and modifications must be made to satisfy public opinion.

The weather continues wintry, though comparatively mild. On Saturday night and Sunday morning there was a heavy fall of rain which settled the snow. There have been a few bursts of snowing in the week.

On Wednesday night the mercury took an other drop though not to very low figures.
Winter is not yet over by any means.

The Imperial parliament met on Tuesday.
The speech from the throne foreshadowed a great deal of legislative business of the revolution which is taking place in English public opinion. Old institutions and class privileges are evidently doomed. Mr.
Gladstone will introduce the new Irish home rule bill on Monday. Exciting debates may be expected.

At this time of year many persons are desiring of getting journals, magazines, etc.

Another Election.

W. K. Aylsworth, Esq., having been appointed clerk of the county, has tendered his resignation of the reevehip to the Clerk of the town council. The resignation will not doubt be accepted at the next meeting of the council and an election to fill the vacancy be ordered up forthwith. There are already many applicants for the position.

Temperance Work.

The two councils of Royal Templars continued to gain in numbers and are much encouraged by the work in this town. At Deseronto Council No. 1, on Wednesday evening last, there will be an exciting debate which will not doubt bring out all the membership.
Mr. Doughty the renowned temperance lecturer, will, under the auspices of the council, deliver a series of addresses in Deseronto, commencing next Sunday at 2.30 p.m. at 5.30 p.m. in the Deseronto opera house. He will be assisted by some excellent musical talent. The public are cordially invited.

Obituary.

Mr. Robert Naylor, after six months of suffering, died on the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 18th, aged 33 years. The deceased was a very steady, industrious, and estimable young man. His illness, which was due to a spinal affection, was borne with great patience and fortitude. He leaves a wife and three small children. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. at the residence of Mr. Naylor. The burial will be in the cemetery. The funeral will be held at 2.30 p.m. at the residence of Mr. Naylor. The burial will be in the cemetery.

Jubilee Singers.

The famous Jubilee Singers will appear at the Deseronto Opera House tomorrow evening, Saturday, Feb. 4th. This splendid musical organization has attained a degree of popularity which excites a welcome wherever they go. The highest church dignitaries in the country have witnessed their performances and have expressed a new feature will be the presence of Prof.
L. A. Lucas, soloist on guitar, mandolin and violin. This artist has no equals in his line in the Dominion. The boys' choir singer is a drawing number. A large house will no doubt greet the singers.

Church of the Redeemer.

There will be communion service at the Church of the Redeemer next Sunday, Feb.
6th, at 11 a.m. The usual preparatory service will be held this (Friday) evening at 7.30. At 7 p.m. next Sunday the pastor will deliver a sermon on "The Church of the Redeemer." At 8 p.m. the regular congregation service of the Y. P. S. C. Endeavor will be held, the topic being, "Joy in God's Service and in His House." The managers announce the annual tea meeting for Thursday evening, Feb. 9th. The Y. P. S. C. Endeavor celebrated the twelfth anniversary of the order by a missionary meeting held last evening in the parlors of the church.

The Dissolution Assault Case.

The preliminary examination of the case of the two young men, Hubble and McWilliams, charged with assaulting Miss Gladstone, of Kingston, has been in progress at Belleville during the past week and was brought to a close Wednesday morning. Miss Cole was in the witness box about sixteen hours and was exposed to a searching cross examination by the defendant's counsel, but, as the police magistrate stated, her story virtually remained intact.
The magistrate said that under the circumstances, he had but one course to pursue; the crown had made out a prima facie case, and was compelled to commit the two young men for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. The young men in question have up to the present time borne good reputations. Bail was applied for and was granted. The magistrate held that he had no jurisdiction to grant it and the two men were committed to jail.

Wedding Bells.

On Monday, Jan. 23rd, in St. Charles Church, Rev. Father McCarthy celebrated in holy matrimony Mr. Edward Legume, of Washington, and Miss Maggie Lehane, daughter of the late Michael Le-hane, of Yendings. The fair bride was attended in travelling suit of dark blue velvet with cream lace trimmings and honest to match. She was assisted by Miss Lehane, the bridesmaid, and Miss Le-hane, the groom, who was dressed in dark blue with cream lace trimmings. Mr. James Lehane, brother of the bride, was best man.
After the ceremony a grand reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, Yendings. The bride was the deserved recipient of many valuable and handsome presents. On Wednesday, Jan. 25th, the happy couple, accompanied by Mr. & Mrs.
P. Hunt and family, left for Washington, their honeymoon. They were followed by the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

A Successful Entertainment.

The entertainment held last Tuesday evening at the Mohawk paragon, under the auspices of the Sunley school of Christ Church, was of a most pleasing and successful character. Although the weather was blustery the spacious rooms of the paragon were crowded with an enthusiastic audience.
The program was most interesting and comprised a number of tableaux and was well carried out from start to finish. Rev. G. A.
Anderson, M.A., presided in a happy manner. The musical selections were all well given and the tableaux were the best we have seen in this district for many years. It is needless to state that the audience showed their appreciation of the treat by hearty applause. Miss Sophie Anderson deserves very much credit for her careful training of the young folk in their different parts. Mr. Andrew Maracle and George Amos Fowler also gave valuable assistance. Miss Anderson skillfully played the different accompaniments. A handsome sum was netted for the improvement fund of Christ Church.

Citizen Band.

The following are the officers of the Citizen Band of the City of Deseronto, Ont.

THE BIG STORE.

We offer hearty New Year's Greetings to our numerous customers, and sincerely thank them for the liberal patronage bestowed upon us during 1892.

Our stock taking is now over, and we shall at once begin a clearing sale. All Fall and Winter Goods must be sold regardless of value, as our store is too small to carry unseasonable stock.

Any person who is watching the tendency of business affairs in Deseronto can clearly see that it is not only in an active condition, but about to enter a period of much more animation and prosperity. Cheerfulness and confidence pervade all classes of our people, and there is an evident determination on the part of all to press onward in every enterprise and gain the greatest success in every occupation. When such a state of feeling is general among the masses we may well look for an era of universal prosperity. These bright prospects have prompted us to make unusually large importations of Spring Goods, for which we must make room.

If we have not had the pleasure of doing business with you in the past we shall be glad to number you with our customers for 1893.

Our stock in the following lines will be fully assorted with the very best goods obtainable and sold at prices which cannot fail to satisfy purchasers:

- Dry Goods, Imported and Domestic.
- Merchant Tailoring and Ready-made Clothing.
- Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, and all kinds of Footwear.
- Carpets in all the different makes.
- Oilcloths and Linoleums.
- Hardware, Shelf and Heavy. Stoves, Tinware, etc.
- Groceries and Provisions. Everything you use.
- Paints, Oils of every description.
- Crockery and Glassware.
- Salt, Building Paper, Water Lime, etc.

Customers, once secured, invariably continue to be such. We solicit your trade and will appreciate your favors.

THE KING OF TRAMPDOM

IS OUR OLD FRIEND GEORGE JOHNSON, THE PRINTER.

Placid and Fascinating as Ever, He Gives Evidence of Being Well Up in English Classics—His Experience as a War Correspondent Related by Himself.

About midnight a short time since, one of the editorial rooms in the Free Press building was suddenly invaded by about as emphatic an example of wretched manhood as could be found in a day's walk. His face was bilious, his hair was tangled and long, his clothing was ragged into the ragged, but thrifty bush of whiskers which enveloped the jaw and throat. His clothes, and in fact, his entire make-up, betokened the force of the Americanian tramp.

"With you Merry Christmas! Christ-mas gift on you!" was his salutation as he shuffled into the room with one hand greasy handkerchief for his forehead and had been swapped for a brownish-black, and was doing duty, possibly genuine, as a sling.

"What's wanted?" was the question propounded and the apparition, with frankness badly rattled by a whiskey voice, continued: "I'm hard up and I want the price of a bed."

"Go to the Association of Clavities. I can't help you."

"Yes, you can, and what's more, you will. I ain't going to shoot, cut or club, but I just want to show you my arm," said the tramp, and began uncoiling the ragged wrap about the arm which rested in the sling.

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn"—Fog, quoted the tramp, as he went on undoing the sling-up arm.

"I'll call the police if you don't get out!" seemed to have no effect on the persistent visitor, for he went on with his manipulations about his arm and soon exposed an arm which, ending in a hand of full size and very grimy and rough, was withered so that it was merely a skeletal representation over which the skin fitted tightly.

"Now, I'm a printer, and I lost that arm while working at the case—an explosion and a terrible burn. As a printer I want help and you're going to give it."

"You seem confident as well as very impudent."

"Why not? You can't turn this arm out, when every body rejects and all that is good in mankind is ready to be brought out, you cannot refuse such a man as I am a Christmas trifle."

"Well, here's 10 cents. That will get you a bed, go get one."

"No, I won't take so small a sum because if that's all you've got you need it worse than I do. Keep the 10 cents; I'll make you a Christmas present," said the tramp as he began laboriously and with seeming pain, to unwrap up the withered arm.

"You're a dandy in your line. How long have you been a tramp?"

"Nearly 50 years."

"And you like it?"

"Of course I do."

"And you have no conscientious scruples, no pride, no shame?"

"Not a bit. 'When I consider life, 'tis all a cheat. Yet, fooled with hope, men favor the deceit.'—Dryden," said the tramp.

"So are you and what's your history?"

"Anything but history, for history must be false.—Walpole. But I'll tell you a little about myself. My name is George Johnson and I'm a Canadian. I have a collegiate education backed by some 15 years' service as compositor, setter, reporter and war correspondent in the newspaper business. I'm a journalist—as we love to call ourselves—and in hard luck."

"Where did you ever work?"

"I've been in the Toronto Globe, The Buffalo Express, the Chicago Times, the Tribune, the St. Louis Republic—that's where I got the burn—and on various New York papers."

"When did you do war correspondence?"

"In our own Civil War and in the Mexican campaign. I was once in Moro Castle under sentence of death for smuggling American papers into Havana, and I got my freedom by claiming to be a British subject and through the interposition of the British Consul."

"Do you know, I think you're one of the most accomplished lars I ever saw. Very likely. I expect you to have such an opinion—over 25 years of experience with the world has taught me that only about a third of the men who meet will believe a tramp's story. But come: ain't you going to make this Christmas gift a cheap two drinks?"

"Doesn't it strike you that you are too brazen to succeed well in your business?"

"In peace there's nothing so becomes a man as modest stillness and humility, but when the blast of war blows in our ears, then imitate the action of the tiger: stifle the sneeze, summon up the blood.—Shakespeare."

"With whom are you at war?"

"I've no business and want none. I've no business and am not looking for any. I've got to eat, I must cover my nakedness, and I must have a place to sleep."

which would necessitate our waiting there for the next train. But we don't have to fight woodpeckers and other innumerable objects as much as we do members of the human race."

"How much per day can you make by begging?"

"If I'd keep straight and let liquor alone, I might make more than you do, so it is, I guess I average as much as $5 per day."

"How do you happen to be broke?"

"It's Christmas and I've been celebrating. Besides, I've had to take care of the sick members of the crew for nearly a week. We came up from Cleveland last night."

"Where are your partners?"

"They're down to the—Hotel Mendon—in up and their board is paid—you see they had no baggage—up to next Monday. By that time they will be well and then won't do the town together."

"Please write me your name on this card," was responded to by the tramp who made a labored effort with his right hand and when he was requested to write his name with his right hand he responded, but with poor results, and apologized for the irregularity of his letters, adding: "Before I thrust my hand I wrote a beautiful figure—the 'comps' said I sent up the prettiest copy in the business. So you just write me your name on a card. I kinder like you and would like to remember your name."

The desired name was written on the back of a card on the other side of which was the name of a gentleman connected with one of the hotels in this city. This was noted by the writer, however, and he had nearly forgotten the fact, when several days after the above detailed interview the hotel gentleman appeared at the Free Press office, and presenting the card, said: "I received your card and gave your friend a meal as you requested."

"My friend's a meal! What do you mean?"

The hotel man then detailed how the tramp had appeared at the hotel, and presenting the card said that he had been up and had a friend on the Free Press, and that the friend had directed him to visit the hotel for a meal. Then the hotel man and the newspaper man agreed that George Johnson was, as he claimed, the Mikado of Trampdom.—Detroit Free Press.

On a Marble Foundation.

In the search for a substantial foundation for the piers for the new Toronto, Ontario & Buffalo Railway bridge which will span the Grand River at Brantford, the contractors made an accidental discovery of much importance.

The extreme hardness of the rock through which the contractors were obliged to drill attracted the attention of those most deeply interested in the operation, and Contractor Hopkins was convinced that the rock was not of the formation usually met with in that locality, submitted a specimen of it to a leading geologist, who at once pronounced it to be marble of splendid quality.

The marble vein runs down for about 200 feet and is of considerable breadth. Its course has been traced on the south bank of the river away back for 1,000 feet, and the quality all the way is admirably good. It also runs under the river, where the river is being bridged, and upon the north bank of the river underlies the property of Mr. J. E. Waterman. Long ago Mr. Waterman had his attention drawn to the peculiar stone, and though he found much difficulty in working and boring a little of it, it did not give the matter serious thought.

The discovery is undoubtedly a very valuable one and if subsequent inquiry by those especially versed in the matter confirms the impressions gathered from the specimens experimented with, it should add vastly to the value of the property.

CAUGHT IN HIS OWN TRAP.

A Disastrous Attempt at an Impromptu Sermon.

Two ministers were once conversing on extemporaneous preaching.

"Well," said the elder of the two, waxing warm, "you are ruining yourself by writing your sermons and reading them out."

"Your congregation cannot become interested in your preaching, and if you were called upon to preach unexpectedly, unless you could, unhindered, of an old sermon, you would be completely confused."

The young divine used all his eloquence in vain to convince his brother that the written sermon expressed his thoughts and feelings, and if called upon he could preach extemporaneously.

"As we are of the same faith," said he, "suppose you try me next Sunday morning. On attending the pulpit you will find me a better preacher than you are."

The young divine, who had been expressing his thoughts and feelings, and if called upon he could preach extemporaneously.

The following Sabbath on mounting the pulpit, the senior brother handed the younger minister a slip on which was written: "And the ass opened his mouth, and spake," from which the young divine preached a gloriously good sermon, claiming the attention of his delighted hearers and charming his old friends with his eloquence. For the afternoon the younger minister handed a slip to the elder. After rising and opening the Bible the old man glanced at the slip and then in a loud voice he read aloud: "Am I not time ass?"

Fausing a few moments he ran his finger through his hair, straightened his collar, blew his nose in a nervous jerking way, and read again, "Am I not time ass?" Another pause, during which the old divine read, and again the old divine read in solid tones, "Am I not time ass?" Then, glancing at his friend, who sat directly behind him, he said, in a loud voice, "I think I am, brother.—The Million."

Traits of the Newspaper Boy.

The newspaper boy is fond of work—that is to say, he loves to sit and see it. He loves to contemplate work in the abstract. Its details are less interesting to him. The sound of the call bell made him jump. It is never among him in the least. There are several authenticated instances on record where he has been known to be so absorbed in his work that he forgot the business of the office—for he is a newspaper boy.

He loves to see the editor's name and make himself generally useful outside of his usual duties. The old routine of office work is too limited a field for his versatility. In fact, the newspaper office boy is something per se.—New York Herald.

THE STORE LOAFER.

The store loafer is a distinctively American institution. His shingle hangs out in every country, and times or seasons make no change in his habits. You find him in summer ventilating his person and opinions in the shade of a tree, and in winter he is in a snug room, where he sits on a squirrel escape ladder, the foot of the loafer, after having its sock, approaches the grocer's store. Here he whittles and relates, evaporates what little steam is left in his anatomy and adds the knowledge of his neighbors' business to what he has forgotten of his own and his debts. He absorbs caloric from a stove burning another man's coal, the tobacco he reduced to ash and nicotine is largely gratuitous, while for the corner he occupies he pays no rent except in spots on the floor and observations made on sugar, beans and politics.

It is needless to say that as his eyes are innocent of a bandage and his ears are not cracked, that what he imbibes through both means makes him expert in a social orifice and a scandal artist. It is from such gentlemen as this class that 90 per cent of town gossip finds its casual way. He enjoys the news as he does his pipe, and generally manages to leave even a newboy or a sewing machine in the rear when he unloads his memory and uncoils himself on the public ear. It is not to be supposed that a man addicted to this kind of pastime has much to say of his own affairs, and he is a social parasite. As a rule he cares more for slicing water-melon than for cutting wood, and has a gift of grumbling when his wife fails to reconstruct the stove pipe or make connections with the coal house.

In a personal and social sense the store loafer is not less delicate than the social loafer. Every body but himself is the object of this three-story act, and we know of nothing that can make him so excepting longer and longer. He is a few evils in a man in business but would rather tolerate a white-faced hornet than a chronic loafer. It is certainly one of the missing planks in modern reform that store loafing should be escape criticism and slow death and be allowed to associate itself with dry goods and groceries to the hindrance of business and injury to the public stomach, to say nothing of the scandal and gossip that has an artesian well in the wrinkled vest of the loafer. There are a few evils in a country town, except a want of sidewalks and sewerage, that by weight or measure can discount the nuisance of store loafing.

WINTER FEEDING. When horses and cattle are kept in stables most of the winter and are fed on dry food, they are apt to get out of condition and the spring feed animals that are not thriving, may have actually lost during the winter, and have to do all their "picking up" when turned out to grass. All this can be prevented and animals made to gain all winter long by using Dick's Blood Purifier. Note the name—Dick's not Richard's.

THE OLD BACK STAIR.

Of all the sports of childhood. I know of none so rare As sliding down the banisters Of the old back stair.

I remember well the circus And the fun it used to bring; While watching fearless riders A-dashing round the ring, But this jolly old attraction Could never wear compare With sliding down the banisters Of the old back stair.

Then I recollect the barn loft, Chucked full of clover hay; Another used as a nest for Be sliding down the banisters Of the old back stair.

I have grown into manhood now, And often wonder how, And while watching fearless riders They're glad to have me come; But while they're not looking I'm tempted to declare, To slide down the banisters Of the old back stair.

The new Anglican diocese of Ottawa will be composed of the eight most easterly counties of Ontario, and will have jurisdiction over seventy-six clergymen, leaving only fifty-nine for the old diocese, which however contains nearly all the rectories.

The new engine, and a boiler for another, will be completed next week at the locomotive works Kingston, for the B. & Q. Railway. Since the road became connected with Kingston about $20,000 has been spent in that city in building and repairing engines and rolling stock.

The great business advantage of good sleighing has been illustrated in Minnesota, where a load of logs about sixty-five in number and weighing 100 tons was recently hauled a mile on runners by four horses. The chains used for binding the load weighed five tons and the logs scaled 31,450 feet.

The treasury department of the United States has refunded the duties paid by the Lake Ontario fish company on fresh fish caught by an individual in catching fish and importing them into the United States.

Hon. James Gillespie Blaine, late secretary of state of the United States, died January 27th, aged 63 years. He was born at Indian Hill Farm, Pennsylvania. He taught school for some time and then entered journalism. In 1858 he entered the Maine legislature, in 1862 went to congress, in 1865 was made speaker, and became a senator in 1877. Was an unsuccessful candidate for the presidency in 1884.

A revolution has taken place in Hawaii. The queen has been deposed and a provisional government has been formed. There is some talk of annexing the country to the United States. Hawaii consists of fifteen islands in the North Pacific, only eight of which are inhabited. They are about 2,100 miles from San Francisco. The area is 6,640 square miles and population 80,000. Nine-tenths of the trade of the islands is with the United States. Honolulu, the capital, has a population of 20,000.

Major-general Herbert, in his annual report, criticizes the administration of the militia in several terms. He states that the different corps are equipped with the very poorest material, that there is little of discipline, and that the force is ineffective. The greater portion of the military supplies are more than useless. This is a bad state of affairs which has been long known to have existed. Any visitor to a militia camp in any of our seasons will state that the general report is correct in every particular. The whole militia system of Canada is an expensive fraud.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The County Council of Hastings met at Belleville, Tuesday, Jan. 25th, with a full attendance of members. Dr. Frank Thompson, of Elizabethtown, was unanimously elected Warde and the council adjourned until Wednesday morning.

On Wednesday morning a large number of communications were read and several members gave notice of by-laws to be introduced. On motion Mr. Vermilyea, seconded by Dr. Faulkner, the council decided to restrict the expenditure under its control that the road should be increased beyond the preceding year but it was possible reduced. The motion was adopted.

Messrs. Clark, Herrick, Muller, Clark, Kingston, Tivy, Holton, McAlpine, Holgate and Vermilyea were appointed a committee to make such recommendation as they may deem wise upon other than county gravel roads and bridges this year.

On motion of Mr. Aylworth, seconded by Mr. Vermilyea, $25 was granted to the inspector for the teacher's institute. On motion of Mr. Aylworth, seconded by Mr. Hagerly, the petition from the county of Elgin asking for an amendment of the railway act which would render it compulsory for railways to make provision for footpaths on natural water courses wherever required, was ordered to be properly signed and to be delivered to the government through W. F. Hudson, Esq., P. A. Minister of the Dominion Alliance asking that the Ontario government would give the people of the province an opportunity of voting on the prohibition question was also ordered to be signed. The committee appointed to interview the city council of Belleville in respect of the franchise was reported that the city had promised to be more moderate in its demands and to keep within the statute. On motion daily made the council resolved that the pledge made at the beginning of its meeting, rushed into extravagance and ordered a kettle to be purchased for the coal stove.

On Tuesday morning communications were read and notices given of proposed by-laws. The sum of $60 was granted to the township of Elizabethtown for school purposes and $25 to No. 4 school township. The committee appointed to look into the Frankford ditch affair reported that they had made a preliminary survey of the ditch and until Frankford petitioned for the proposed change. Mr. Melatosh, school inspector, stated by request the mode by which the township of Elizabethtown had received $1,160 from the government for that purpose. The Warden named Charles Thompson of Madoc, as county auditor, and Mr. Aylworth, seconded by Mr. Vermilyea, was made the honor. W. R. Aylworth and Edwin Reid were, on motion of Messrs. Vermilyea and Mr. Deuch, appointed a committee to examine the books and accounts. Rev. J. M. Gray was appointed trustee of Stirling high school; A. A. Macdonald, of Madoc high school; Thor. Steel, of Trenton high school; and on motion of Mr. Aylworth, seconded by Mr. McLane, Dr. Newton was appointed trustee of Deseronto high school. Permission was given to Mr. Aylworth to erect a water tower on the site of a building in that township.

On motion of Mr. Aylworth, seconded by Mr. McGarvey, it was resolved to petition the Ontario government to grant assistance to the proposed school of science in Kingston.

On Friday morning Dr. James T. Bell, the venerable clerk who had been present at the opening of the council but who had been compelled by illness to remain home after that time, sent a communication to inform the council of his resignation. He had been compelled by successive county councils during the fifteen years of his service to resign. His resignation was accepted by the council on account of failing health. It was impossible for him to continue his duties. The resignation of the Clerk was accepted to take effect Jan. 31st.

Mr. Holgate reported the following grants on county roads, other than county gravel roads: Sidney $630, Thurlow $360, Tyndalunga $362, Huntingdon $315, Rawdon $337.50, Hungerford $247.50, Marmora $270, Madoc village $300, Iwerd $300, Stirling $37.50, Madoc $250, Carleton $180, May $180, Elizabethtown $180, Tyndalunga $180, Faraday $180, Carleton Place $180, Carleton Place $180, Iwerd $180, Stirling $180, Deseronto $112.15. Total $5554.50.

The report was adopted. The amounts were assumed to be paid by the county.

Mr. E. Murphy, chairman of the Road and Bridge Committee, reported:

1. That the communication from the Council of the County of Ontario, asking for an extra sum of $40 to put on brackets and support sidewalk on Tweed Bridge was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. J. M. Farley, J. H. Hagarty, R. K. Clark, W. E. Gladwin, W. R. Aylworth and the chairman said committee to accept such recommendation as they may deem wise.

That the communication from the Council of the County of Ontario, asking for an extra sum of $40 to put on brackets and support sidewalk on Tweed Bridge was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. J. M. Farley, J. H. Hagarty, R. K. Clark, W. E. Gladwin, W. R. Aylworth and the chairman said committee to accept such recommendation as they may deem wise.

6. That the road leading from the Bridge road in the township of Rawdon north to the township of Carleton Place, and the road leading from the township of Carleton Place to the township of Rawdon, be assumed as a county gravel road.

7. That the road leading from the township of Carleton Place to the township of Rawdon, be assumed as a county gravel road.

8. That the road leading from the township of Carleton Place to the township of Rawdon, be assumed as a county gravel road.

9. That the road leading from the township of Carleton Place to the township of Rawdon, be assumed as a county gravel road.

10. That the road leading from the township of Carleton Place to the township of Rawdon, be assumed as a county gravel road.

set aside with J. A. Bell for building culvert on Main road near the C.P.R. and C.O.R. Junction.

16. That the committee recommend that the road from "Sandwaters" Corner to Oliver's Corner in 4th concession of Sidney and from Atkins church road to railroad, and thence east to lot 30 be assumed as a county gravel road.

17. That the Chairman and Superintendent have power to bank gravel at such places as they may deem to be of the interest of the county, and also to have the road bridges painted when necessary.

18. That the county road from Hillbridge to Hogan's Station be assumed as a county gravel road—about one mile.

19. That the county road from Bridge water to John's River be assumed as a county gravel road.

After a long discussion the report was referred back to the committee for the purpose of eliminating all the recommendations for the assumption of further gravel roads with the exception of Rawdon. On motion of Mr. Deuch, seconded by Mr. Martin, a by-law was introduced and subsequently passed through the different stages, appointing W. R. Aylworth, of Deseronto, clerk of the County, at a salary of $600 a year. The Council voted $20 to Judge Fraick and $10 to Judge Martin for stationery. A resolution was placed on record expressing of the great esteem in which the retiring clerk, Mr. T. Bell, was held by the council. The sum of $400 to be paid yearly to Dr. Bell as long as he lived.

Mr. Aylworth, on occasion to thank the council for his appointment to the clerkship. After twenty years service in the office it was pleasing to know that he is still so active in respect of the members. He had always tried to do his duty conscientiously and he felt he had made the progress of the county. He hoped that when he retired from office he would leave as good a reputation behind him as his predecessor.

Mr. McGarvey, chairman of the Finance and Public Property committee, submitted the following report: (1) that the chairman move the pillars in front of the court house, and have the corner, shutters and window frames of the Shire Hall painted; (2) that the fence at the south of Shire Hall be removed and a low fence of pipe substituted; (3) that the weapons and dishes, etc., as are needed for the prison be purchased; (4) that Mr. Hanley be instructed to make plans and estimates for the addition to the county jail; (5) that the chairman invite tenders for the work, after securing the approval of the plan by the proper government inspector; (6) that the chairman be authorized to purchase, Aylworth, Martin, Holgate and the chairman have the oversight of the improvements. The report was accepted.

A by-law assuming the road leading from the bridge road north in Rawdon township as a gravel road was passed through its different stages. The Belleville Education Board of education had decided to accept $25 per pupil from the council for each county pupil attending the Belleville high school, and a sum of $2500 for the year $15 for his services as clerk during the sitting of the council.

The council adjourned until Tuesday, June 13th.

Extraordinary Result of a Storm.

One of the strangest things to be seen at Santa Cruz these days is a queer spouting rock, or rather a tunnel and queer aperture, through which the sea water boils and bubbles furiously. The queer spouting rock developed during a recent great storm. Every two or three minutes a great geyser of water of water sixty feet high shoots into the air. To view it wholly from the surface it appears to be a gigantic geyser. The water, which is very hot, is ejected with such force that it is visible from the Pacific ocean. For a thousand years possibly, and may be many more, for nobody knows, the waves have been breaking and the sea has been earning a name of hide-and-go-seek with themselves and the rocky shore that they have worn great channels and tunnels by the breaking of the waves. Some of the ground thereabouts by a San Francisco Examiner man revealed novel things. It was found that a long narrow groove or tunnel had been worn into the rock, and the waves had been driven into it. It was widest at the sea end, like a wedge, and grew narrower as it reached into the land. It extended about eighty feet.

Into the tunnel the waves crashed and hammered as they rolled in from toward the mountains across the bay which border the Salinas river. As the waves crashed and the water boiled and bubbled, the sea water boiled and bubbled furiously. The queer spouting rock developed during a recent great storm. Only a Score of White Rhinoceroses.

From a letter addressed by that renowned sportsman, Mr. Selous, to the Editor of the Illustrated London News, it appears that that curious and rare animal the white rhinoceros has not yet gone the way of the dodo and the great bustard, though some have ventured to give Mr. Selous authority for saying that he is Maehoonland, which has kept 10 native hunters to have a fairly big estimate. He says that this gentleman attributes the fact that in this part a few specimens still survive the constant persecution which in less than twenty years has nearly exterminated them in every other portion of South Central Africa. "There may be," he says, "but ten or even twenty of these animals left, but I do not think more than a few."

Distances Covered by Danes.

An average walk takes one over or about three quarters of a mile, and a square dance makes one cover a half mile and a gallop equals a good mile, at a run, too. Count for yourself how much of a fairly big estimate. The average of the average, you know. Of those about twelve are waltzes. There, at once, as nine miles. There are other dances at a half mile apiece, which is a fairly big estimate, brings her close upon fifteen miles, to say nothing of the intermission stroll in the garden and the trips to the dressing room to renovate one's gown and complexion.

EXPORTING GOLD TO EUROPE.

The Method Adopted for the Packing and Handling of the Coin.

Another half million of gold went abroad yesterday from Normandine, of the French line, bound for Havre, Kunt, Loeb & Co. being the shippers. It was claimed that this gold was on an old order from the Sub-Treasury officials said that nothing was known about its being wanted until Friday, when it was so much has been written of late about gold exports that the method of shipping the gold is of interest to those who read about the numerous purchases of gold for Europe. The gold coin is kept in stout canvas bags in the vaults of the Sub-Treasury. Each bag containing $5,000. The denominations are kept separate. When a broker receives an order to export for a certain amount of gold coin, he buys it at the Sub-Treasury, paying for it in treasury notes, gold certificates or greenbacks. Silver certificates are not taken at the Treasury in exchange for gold.

All the carting of specie or bullion in this city is done by an express firm—J. C. Barkley & Son. Barkley is known to every banker and broker in the city, and it is his proud boast that he has never lost a dollar entrusted to his care. While he has drivers and helpers on his wagons to handle the gold, he has a large number of men present to superintend the loading. Then they walk beside the wagon to its destination, and the gold is safely delivered. While the gold is being loaded on the truck several men, apparently watching closely by, are really watching and watching sharply, too, to see that no attempt at robbery is made. They are in Barkley's employ and are all heavily armed.

At the broker's office the coin, still in the canvas bags, is placed in kegs resembling those in which white lead is packed. They are made of stout oak staves and are heavily hooped with iron. A keg will hold $50,000 in gold, or 5,000 dollars worth of silver. The kegs are then loaded on the truck and taken to the wharf, where they are usually just a short time before the hour set for the vessel to sail. It is taken on board and placed in the "specie room," a small vaulted apartment, well guarded and in the hold. There it remains until unloaded on the other side of the ocean. Once the coin is placed in the specie room on the ship the ship's responsibility ceases.

Gold Fits a Lustrous Upon Silk.

In one of the large cold storage warehouses in New York, according to the latest reports, the cold storage is kept so cool that the temperature has been found to be the best preventive against worms yet discovered. In the cold storage, the quantity of silk is about 100,000 pounds. The commodity is sold by weight, and when stored in ordinary warehouses the silk dries, and naturally decreases in weight. In a cold storage, the moisture is preserved, and the silk keeps its weight. There is another curious fact in regard to the cold storage of silk. The silk is packed in bales and is kept in the cold storage with the temperature reduced below the freezing point. It was discovered some years ago that silk in winter usually had a finer luster than in summer. The cold air was supposed to be accountable for the change, and an experiment was tried in keeping bales of silk in cold rooms for comparison with others on the store counters. The cold silk then appeared to be of a much finer quality, and when it was placed in the cold storage, it was soon as fine as the summer silk. In some cases the thermometer is kept as low as 10 degrees, and when the bales are taken out they are found to be of a finer quality than those kept in the summer. Some true keep most of their stock in storage, and only take silk out in quantities equal to the anticipated sales of the day, for the moisture acquired by freezing soon appears after exposure on the bargain counter.

The Great Chinese Wall.

The wandering, pitching, clambering line stood close before us, and here, by the history of the wall, was seen the structure which was intended to keep out that race—the Eastern or Manchou Tartars—one of whom now occupies the position of the Great Wall of China. We were dismounted and climbed on the serpentine monster. The evening light and shade lent great effect to the surrounding scene.

We therefore wandered and pondered at our leisure, and walked on the top of the wall, and here, by the history of the wall, was seen the structure which was intended to keep out that race—the Eastern or Manchou Tartars—one of whom now occupies the position of the Great Wall of China. We were dismounted and climbed on the serpentine monster. The evening light and shade lent great effect to the surrounding scene.

KINGSFORD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A milk route to the Deseronto creamery through this neighborhood is likely to be an established fact.

A party of friends from Deseronto drove out on Wednesday evening to the hospitable home of Mr. J. H. McHenry and spent a very pleasant evening there. They were reinforced by other friends from the surrounding country and all went merrily at the proverbial marriage bell.

The storms of the past week have put a stop to the drawing of wood for a time. The state of the roads seems to have had its influence also on the number of people who were able to attend market, not a single market sleigh having been seen on the boundary on Thursday.

Communion service will be held at 10:45 a.m. on Sunday 12th inst., at St. Jude's church, Kingsford. It is said that these will be service also on Ash Wednesday, Rev. R. Atkinson officiating.

Many of the residents of this vicinity are suffering from an aggr. w. of colds of the grippe. Most of them are on the way to recovery however.

GREEN POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

About sixty of the young people met at Mr. A. J. Short's Feb. 1st with well fitted baskets and surprised Mrs. Short. A cordial welcome was extended to the party who spent the evening very pleasantly.

Mr. D. B. Cole has his new dock nearly completed. When done it will be one of the best on the bay, with sufficient length and depth of water for the largest boats.

THE BIG STORE.

We offer hearty New Year's Greetings to our numerous customers, and sincerely thank them for the liberal patronage bestowed upon us during 1892.

Our stock taking is now over, and we shall at once begin a clearing sale. All Fall and Winter Goods must be sold regardless of value, as our store is too small to carry unseasonable stock.

Any person who is watching the tendency of business affairs in Deseronto can clearly see that it is not only in an active condition, but about to enter a period of much more animation and prosperity. Cheerfulness and confidence pervade all classes of our people, and there is an evident determination on the part of all to press onward in every enterprise and gain the greatest success in every occupation. When such a state of feeling is general among the masses we may well look for an era of universal prosperity. These bright prospects have prompted us to make unusually large importations of Spring Goods, for which we must make room.

If we have not had the pleasure of doing business with you in the past we shall be glad to number you with our customers for 1893.

Our stock in the following lines will be fully assorted with the very best goods obtainable and sold at prices which cannot fail to satisfy purchasers:

- Dry Goods, Imported and Domestic.
- Merchant Tailoring and Ready-made Clothing.
- Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, and all kinds of Footwear.
- Carpets in all the different makes.
- Oilcloths and Linoleums.
- Hardware, Shelf and Heavy. Stoves, Tinware, etc.
- Groceries and Provisions. Everything you use.
- Paints, Oils of every description.
- Crockery and Glassware.
- Salt, Building Paper, Water Lime, etc.

Customers, once secured, invariably continue to be such. We solicit your trade and will appreciate your favors.

TRAVERSING THE NORTHERN SEAS.

Less Uncertainly Now Than There Was in the Days of Franklin.

The experience that has been brought down from the various Arctic expeditions, and more particularly from the different whalers which every year traverse much of the northern icy seas, has infused an element of certainty into Arctic navigation which could hardly have been realized by the heroes of a period twenty-five or thirty years ago. The capture by the Melville bay pack of McClintock's Fox in the latter part of August and her successful voyage, paralleled to-day, according to Scribner, except as the outcome of ignorance or disregard of weather conditions, on an average season. Melville bay can be traversed as readily as almost any large body of water lying southward, while its earlier seasonal passage can be predicted with a precision almost akin to mathematical calculation. The hard luck for which has accumulated on the large bergs which are here and there scattered through it, usually shows the first signs of weakness between July 15 and 20.

Large cakes or pans of ice have by that time accumulated to the point that currents that are directed against the current, and detaching themselves from the parent mass, flow on to find new havens of their own. The weakening process continues until most of the ice has been either removed or melted away, and before the close of the fourth week of July little beyond shore ice (shorepan) remains to indicate the barrier which but a few days before rendered a passage all but impracticable. The trend of the ice is northward through the bay, then westward to the American side, and finally south to the open sea. It was the purpose of the relief expedition to reach the southern boundary of the Melville bay pack on or about the 20th of the month and there watch the movements of the ice until the opportunity for action arrived. An earlier traverse might possibly have been made, but the dangers incident to this form of navigation were such as to render slowness a prudent measure of safety.

A Last French Electrical Scheme.

It has long been prophesied that the electric motor is destined to revolutionize the factory system, and the recent accounts of the past electrical scheme of the shrewd men of Lyons would indicate that a distinct phase of such a change is about to be entered upon. The rapid current of the river Rhone is to be utilized for the generation of electricity, which will be distributed in the city of Lyons and its suburbs. The waters of the river will be tapped about seventeen miles above the city, where twenty turbines, representing 1,000 horse-power each, will be established. These turbines, operated by the water precipitated upon them from a convenient height, will work the dynamos, and the electric current will be conveyed by six cables to distributing stations situated at various centers in the city. The special object in this undertaking is to benefit the smaller industrial enterprises, and with that view the supply of power to any single subscriber will be limited to fifty horse-power. Of these smaller industrial enterprises, that of the silk weaver is by far the most important. The other uses to which the project contemplates the application of electricity are too numerous to be indicated separately, but they include the mixing of bread, the working of saws and other tools of spring machines, printing machinery, lathes and ventilators, the working of fans, elevators and coffee mills, hair cutting, bootmaking, the purification of sewage and the like. The project is the cure of nervous and other affections. Electricity will also be largely used for traction and lighting, and a system of irrigation is already being planned. The fact every industry in the city will be carried on by electricity. The flow of water to the turbines is to be regulated by a dam, and the necessary power, and compensating reservoirs, and the stream has done the work required of it. It will return to the Rhone by a special canal. The canal, while borrowing largely from the Rhone, will not in the least injure the navigation of the river. Very much to the contrary. From the point of leaving the Rhone, the river, and onward to Lyons, the usually too fierce current will be greatly slackened in force, enabling vessels to pass on and down with more ease than at present, and keeping the navigation open during the greater portion of the year. The whole of the necessary capital is already being privately subscribed, chiefly by merchants, manufacturers and capitalists of the city of Lyons.—Chicago Times.

The Apocryphal Gospel of St. Peter.

The recent discovery of the Apocryphal Gospel of St. Peter is attracting very great attention among scholars, and not unnaturally, for the present theories concerning it are true it will have a direct bearing on at least one of the most difficult of modern critical problems, viz. the date and authorship of the Gospel of John. The Apocryphal Gospel of Peter was discovered about five years ago in a Christian country of Ekhnim, Upper Egypt, but the translation has only recently been published in Paris. It is a fragment, and contains a narrative of the crucifixion and the resurrection. In substance it agrees with the gospels in their descriptions of these events. One noticeable difference is the use of the exclamation, "My power, my power, why hast thou forsaken me?" instead of "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" This phrase is held clearly to indicate that the fragment is of Deotic origin. The conclusion concerning the newly discovered document is thus stated in the "Guardian" by Arthur C. Headlam: "The newly published Apocryphal fragment contains a portion of the last Gospel of Peter; it was written probably in Antioch early in the second century, and was used by Justin Martyr, and it is a Greek translation which makes use of all four canonical Gospels." This is the present belief of the critics, and is based on the best of reasons. Two exceedingly interesting questions are in part answered by this document: (1) If the Gospel of John existed prior to the document, it is plainly did, and if this balance to the first quarter of the second century, then the reasons for believing that John wrote the Gospel which bears his name are greatly strengthened; and (2) here is another distinct answer to the oft-repeated inquiry whether any other writings of those early times contain an account of the life and death of Jesus Christ, for this fragment in its statement of facts is in substantial harmony with the Gospels.—Christian Union.

FOOD AND MORALITY.

TOLSTOI THINKS FLESH EATING LEADS TO IMMORALITY.

Great Perfection Can Only be Attained Upon a Vegetarian Diet—Abstemiousness is the First Virtue in the Pursuit of Moral Perfection.

The distinguished Russian writer, Tolstoi, thus speaks in the New Review of animal diet in its relation to conduct and character.

"I only desire to establish the proposition that, in order to lead a moral life, it is necessary to observe a certain sequence in his aspiration to lead a good life. The practical manifestations of that desire will necessarily unfold themselves in a certain order, and that in this order the abstinence from flesh eating is the first virtue which he will have to cultivate. In the pursuit of the virtue of abstemiousness he must again observe a certain definite order, and the first step therein will be abstemiousness in food-eating."

In the practice of fasting the first thing from which he must abstain, if he really and truly aims at leading a good moral life, is animal food, and this for the intelligible reason that, not to speak of the passion of engorgement and feasting, the consumption of animal food is plainly immoral, because it demands an act which does not involve to our moral sentiments—viz. murder—and is encouraged and kept up only by man's greed of gold and his appetite for savory food. The reason why the first step in fasting and in right living is abstinence from animal food has been admirably formulated, not by one man only, but by all mankind in the persons of its most accredited representatives during the course of human history.

"But why, one may ask, if the flesh—i.e., immorality—of consuming animal food has been recognized by mankind, and has been recognized by mankind for so long a period, have people nevertheless persisted down to the present in ignoring this law? This question naturally suggests itself to those who are prone to be guided less by the light of their own reason than by public opinion. The answer to the question, however, is that all moral progress (and moral progress is the essence of all progress whatever) is a work of time, it is accomplished slowly, but that the sign of progress, as distinguished from casual advance, is its unintermittent continuity and its ever-increasing rapidity."

The vegetarian movement ought to fill with pleasure the souls of those who have at heart the realization of God's kingdom upon earth, not because vegetarianism itself is such an important step toward the realization of that kingdom (all real steps are equally important or unimportant), but because it serves as a criterion by which we know that the pursuit of moral perfection on the part of man is genuine and sincere, inasmuch as it has taken that form which it must necessarily assume, and has truly begun at the very beginning.

"It is impossible not to rejoice at this, for as it would be impossible for people not to feel glad who, after having vainly endeavored to reach the top of the mountain by attempting to climb up the walls from various sides, at last meet at the bottom step of the staircase, and, climbing together there, feel that there is no way of reaching the top except by ascending that staircase and beginning with the first and lowest step."

Wordsmith-politely Men say: "I suppose," said a man who was looking in the dictionary, "that many of us arrive at mature years with a wrong impression of the word 'discovery.' For instance, a word which I wish I could recall, but I can't, which was in a word which was originally impressed upon my mind, and I added later: 'It is a word which is comparatively common use. I carry up carrying that additional letter in the word and never thinking but that I had it right. I have no doubt but that it is in its correct form, but the absence thereof of the letter which I had in the word in my mind had never struck me. One day, however, it did strike me very plainly, and the word then looked so different from the one to which I was mentally accustomed, that I almost seemed to me as though there was something the matter with dislocate, and yet he thought it must be all right. I discovered that the word was repugnant until he had occasion to write it, and then he could at first scarcely believe that he had had it wrong for so long a time. The simple explanation of his mistake was that he had transposed the letters in a hurried reading."

Another acquaintance tells me that for years the impression upon his mind of the word repugnant was repugnant. He did not discover that the word was repugnant until he had occasion to write it, and then he could at first scarcely believe that he had had it wrong for so long a time. The simple explanation of his mistake was that he had transposed the letters in a hurried reading.

The Tireless Stormy Petrel.
During a recent trip across the Atlantic the passengers on one steamer had a vivid illustration of the endurance of the Stormy Petrel. Shortly after the ship left the Irish coast two or three of these birds were sighted at the stern of the ship. One had been caught at some previous time and it was captured a bit of red flannel or ribbon around its neck and let it go. The bit of red made the bird very conspicuous, and it could be easily identified. That bird with others that were not so easily identified followed the ship clear across the ocean. Rarely, during the daytime at least, was it out of sight and if for a hour or two it was lost to view while feeding on the refuse cast overboard, it soon reappeared, and the last seen of it was withered and ragged. Magic Pink Lotion, will ease pain at most instantly. It will heal cuts, wounds, chapped hands, ringworm, tetter, shingles, salt-rheum, sunburn, stings of bees and other poisonous insects. Nothing can beat it as a gargle in cankered mouth, sore lips, putrid sore throat, dyspepsia, quinsy, etc. It gives immediate relief in catarrh by sniffing a few drops up the nostrils two or three times a day. Try it.

C. J. Bradley says:—"I can tell you something about that Magic Pink Lotion." I had a sharp attack of Piles about three months ago which completely laid me out. I got a bottle of that medicine, and after using about one third of it I started it up and set it away. I was well and have had no sign since. (Signed) "CHARLES J. BRADLEY, 155 Concessionaire, Wollford, Ont."

John W. Lauterbach jumped from a fifth story window in New York Saturday and was instantly killed. Business failures caused the act.

THE ADVERTISING.
Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason because it is true: it always appeals to the solid common sense of thinking people because it is true; and is always fully substantiated by endorsements which, in the financial world would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

For a general family cathartic we cordially recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla.

FARMERS AS HORSE TRAINERS.

When farmers read of Nancy Hanks and other fast horses breaking the world's record in the special classes, and of the commencing in the market the combined value of a dozen good farms, the temptation is great for them to turn horse trainers.

While the development of the horse speed is commendable, yet it is a pity that so many of the best horses are lost to the world by the same cause.

A CURE FOR STAMMERING.

A gentleman who stammered from childhood almost up to manhood gives a very simple remedy for the malady. Go into a room where you will be quiet and alone, get some book that will interest you and not bore you, and sit down and read two hours a day to yourself keeping your teeth together. Do the same thing every two or three days, or once a week, if very strenuous, always taking care to read slowly and distinctly, moving the lips but not the teeth. Then when conversing with others try to speak as slowly and distinctly as possible, and make up your mind that you will not stammer. Well, I tried this remedy, not having much faith in it, but to my surprise, willing to do anything to cure myself of such an annoying difficulty. I read for two hours a day with my teeth together. The first result was to make my tongue and jaws so that while I was reading—and the next to make me feel as if something had loosened my talking apparatus, for I could speak with less difficulty immediately the change was so great that every one who knew me remarked on the improvement. I repeated this remedy every five or six days for a month, and then at longer intervals until cured.—Good Health.

With pure, vigorous blood passing through the veins and animating every fibre of the body, cold weather is not only endurable but pleasant and agreeable. No other blood medicine is so certain in its results as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. What it does for others it will do for you.

Another serious point in the case is that as the disease is a chronic one, it is favored in every way possible, has the best care and attention, and if worked at all is given the long end of the double tree when people are as equal as the other side, would have proved the fittest of the two. Always remember there is no short road to wealth, even in the development of trotters.

THIS IS MEANT FOR YOU.

It has been truly said that half the world does not know how the other half lives. Comparatively few of us have perfect blood, owing to the impure condition of our blood. But we can along from day to day, with scarcely a thought, unless forced to our attention, of the thousands all about us who are suffering from blood diseases, and who are as good as dead, and whose agonies can only be imagined. The marked success of Hood's Sarsaparilla for three troubles, as shown in our advertising columns frequently, certainly seems to justify urging the use of this excellent medicine by all who know that their blood is diseased. Every claim in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is fully backed up by what the medicine has done and is still doing, and when its proprietors urge its merits and its use upon all who suffer from impure blood, in great or small degrees, they certainly mean to include you.

The Picton Gazette has decided to adopt the cash system of doing business.

The Hungerford Township election protest comes up for trial at Belleville to-day. Capt. Fort is reported a great deal better than the past week. His friends will be pleased to hear this good news.

Mr. Thomas Mills is delegate for Northport lodge, A. O. U. W., at the grand lodge meeting at Toronto this week.

The branch line of the Bay of Quinte Railway between Harrowsmith and Sydneyham will probably be completed by Aug. 1st.

Archbishop Clary has issued his usual letter pastoral calling upon his flock to vigorously adhere to the customs and wishes of his church.

Dr. Walker is representing Shannonville lodge at the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen at present in session at Toronto.

The house of Frank Larkin, 7th con. of Tyndyng, was destroyed by fire on the 4th inst., while he and his family were attending the funeral of his mother-in-law.

On Monday Mrs. Marcella O'Rourke, relict of the late Patrick O'Rourke of Murray township, died, aged 105 years. She was probably the oldest woman in Canada.

There was a heavy fall in beef last Wednesday about noon, a heavy falling of the Bay of Quinte. Most companies will fall with a dull thud on the icy boardwalk in front of Central Park.

All the young ladies of the town desire through the columns of The Tribune to thank the young gentlemen for the pretty valentines received last Tuesday. They will return the compliment next year.

Rev. J. J. Rice, of Deseronto, is one of the delegates appointed by the Bay of Quinte Conference to attend the World's Temperance Congress which will be held on the 5th of June in connection with the great exposition at Chicago.

On Saturday, 11th inst., Mrs. Templeton, of Napanee, relict of the late Wm. Templeton, and mother of Mr. W. Templeton, publisher of the Napanee "Beaver", passed to rest, aged seventy-two years. The funeral took place on Monday.

On Jan. 30th H. Reid, formerly conductor on the Bay of Quinte Railway, sustained a loss in the death of his daughter Minnie, aged twelve years, which occurred at Schreiber, a station on the C. P. R. where Mr. Reid is now located.

"My dear," said a vain old man to his wife, "these friends here won't believe that I'm only 45 years old. You know I speak the truth don't you?" "Well, simple as this wife," "I suppose I must believe it, John as you've stuck to it for fifteen years."

A cutting precaution—"What's the baby howling about?" growled Mr. Newpaw. "Four little souls he is cutting his teeth," replied Mrs. Newpaw. "Well, why don't you cut his teeth with a knife and see that he doesn't get knives or scissors in his mouth?"

According to late advice Canadian apples which arrived in England last week were of excellent quality and condition. Prices were from 1s. to 1s. 6d. higher, closing strong. The market was completely cleared, supplies in fact, still short of the demand for good fruit.

Mr. W. J. Clark, of Trenton, has been appointed a special deputy for the Royal Templars of Temperance for the counties of Hastings, Northumberland and Prince Edward. He will conduct an active campaign for the select degree in this district.

At Lindsay last Wednesday morning, a large two story frame building, occupied by William Waters, was destroyed by fire. During the progress of the fire, James Martin, aged 18 years, clerk in a dry goods store was assisting in carrying out the furniture when the chimney fell upon him, killing him instantly.

Col. J. M. Ashley, of the Toledo, Ans. Cor. and Northern Michigan Railway, is about to establish the business men of the lakes by putting a line of car ferries in service between Toledo and London, in favour of them to carry forty-eight loaded cars. It may be that some day such ferries may run between Deseronto and Oswego.

Mr. U. Wilson, M. P., has presented a petition to parliament, signed by many residents of Napanee and London, in favour of government fixing the standard of a bushel of onions at 50 pounds in place of 60 pounds, a bag of onions to weigh 70 pounds, exclusive of the bag, and a barrel of onions 150 pounds, exclusive of the barrel.

The official board of the Tamworth Methodist church has given an invitation to Rev. J. J. Rice, of Deseronto, to take the next three days of important charge during the next three days of the Tamworth conference. Deseronto expires at the close of the present Conference year. Mr. Rice has not yet given his decision to the Tamworth people.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Packers Association was held last week at Toronto. The proceedings were very interesting and the reports show a great increase in business. Mr. W. T. Boulter, of Pictou, was elected president. A deputa-tion waited upon the railway authorities and were successful in gaining a reduction of rates.

David Hubble and Norman McWilliams, charged with criminal assault at Blenheim, have been liberated on bail. The accused are held in $3,000 each, and the sureties each of $1,500. Palmer and Jacob McWilliams, each went $1,500 bail for N. McWilliams, and Charles Hudson and Charles Hubble each gave their bond for $1,500 for Hubble's appearance.

It was amusing to watch the ladies last Wednesday endeavouring to make their way eastward along Main Street. When they reached The Tribune crossing there was a quadruped. The boards walked on each side of the street were knee deep in slush and water. Several bold and sturdy fellows, others with better judgment took the middle of the street. The snow lay should be repelled.

Several lots in Cornhill, London, in the immediate neighborhood of the Bank of England, were sold several days ago at a price that averaged £250 per foot, or some thing over $2,000 per acre. The lots in the neighborhood of equal size were bought for some weeks ago, and were bought by the owner at a price of $100,000. The figures here indicate Henry George's earnest attention.

Jupiter, Mars and Neptune are evening stars this month, and are conspicuous in the morning stars. Mercury will soon be an evening star; he was in conjunction with Venus yesterday. There will be a full moon this month. On the evening of Feb. 20th the moon's crescent will be seen about midway between Mars and Jupiter. A very happy time is enjoyed from each, the trio forming a very pretty sight.

By some error of the college authorities the name of Mr. William Geddis, of Deseronto, did not appear on the list of those who took part in the patriotic and literary examination of Queen's College held last July. The error has been rectified, and Mr. Geddis, having passed in this as well as other departments, is a full matriculant of the university. Deseronto students are making a good mark and gaining a reputation for their high school.

Major Anderson, chief engineer of the Marine department at Ottawa, is engaged in making soundings of the Bay of Quinte from Kingston to the mouth of the river, with a view to properly locating buoys for the whole district, a duty which has always been neglected in a manner that is rapidly increasing. A lighthouse will also be erected in the vicinity of Nigger Island. There has never been a systematic survey of the bay attempted before. With the large class of steamers now navigating the bay such a survey is necessary.

A proposition is made to connect Great Britain and Ireland by a tunnel driver under the north channel of the Irish sea at the narrowest part, between county Antrim in Ireland and Scotland in Scotland. The length of the tunnel would be some twenty-seven miles. A number of eminent engineers declare the project entirely feasible. It is admitted the tunnel would not be commercially profitable, but much is claimed for the use of national advantages and the proposition that it should be a national undertaking.

Mr. W. W. Roblin, a respectable farmer of Thurlow, who resided near Roslin, died last Monday after a short illness, aged 43 years. He was attacked by pneumonia and despite the exertions of three physicians rapidly succumbed to the disease. He is survived by a wife and three children. He was a member of Court Roslin, Independent Order of Foresters, and the funeral, which took place yesterday afternoon, was attended by that order, several members of Deseronto Court driving out to attend. His widow will receive an indemnity of $1,000 from the Supreme Court.

Mr. Lowman Westmacottland, who started about five months ago on a visit to friends in England, arrived, after a rough passage, at Halifax, last Sunday by S. S. Labrador. He was accompanied by his wife and two children, and during his stay visited nearly all parts of England. The greater part of his time was spent at his old home, Boston, Lincolnshire. He was accompanied by his wife and young brother Harry and a cousin Mr. Arthur Welch. The former will be accompanied by his wife and two children to his old home, Boston, Lincolnshire.

On Monday Peter Lennahan, of the 9th con. of Tyndyng was proceeding to Belleville with a load of wood, when as he neared the city on the Caniford road, his horse became frightened by a dog, and the vehicle was carrying a wash tub on her head. The animals not being accustomed to this style of spring bonnet became unmanageable and the sleigh plunged into the water. Mr. Lennahan was precipitated over an embankment together with the wood. Fortunately he was not seriously injured. The horses were rescued by a party of men who were fondly collected with a cutter. The vehicle was completely wrecked and Geo. Thompson, a carpenter, was a victim of serious injuries and a Mr. Hopkins was also badly shaken up. The team were somewhat injured.

Missionary Meeting at Kingsford. The annual missionary meeting will be held at St. Jude's Church, Kingsford, on Friday evening, Feb. 20th, at 7:30 o'clock. Addresses will be given by Mr. Anderson, M.A., and Rev. H. B. Patton, B.A., of Deseronto.

Exchange of Property. An interesting exchange of properties occurred when Mr. George G. Clement exchanged his fine brick block on the corner of Thomas and St. George streets for the farm on the Napanee road, north of Deseronto, a property owned by Mr. W. C. B. Rathbun.

The Big Store. General Manager Richardson has had a large staff of painters and other artists busy during the past month repainting the appearance of the interior of the Big Store, and that mammoth establishment now presents a bright and attractive appearance as it was before.

License Commissioners. The Ontario government has appointed the following license commissioners: East Hastings—Sidney Way, George Anderson and Harrison Phillips; Addington—James Herchermer, E. J. Madden and George McDonald; Lennox—James C. Huffman, Jacob F. Smith and Henry S. Davey.

East Hastings Reformers. A mass meeting of the Reformers of East Hastings was held at the town hall, Caniford, at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 23rd, for the purpose of electing officers of the East Hastings Association for the ensuing year and selecting a candidate for the local legislature at the next election, and for other business. Distinguished speakers from a distance will be present.

An Early Spring. On Monday, 13th inst., Mr. Lazarus Brant while clearing away some snow before opening a quarry on the bank of Sucker Creek, was greatly surprised to find a garter snake two and a half feet long. The reptile was quite lively when discovered. Mr. Brant terminated its existence with a well directed blow. The presence of these snakes at this time of year is said to be a sure sign of an early spring.

Canistota. Mr. Fred Burr while at work the other day had his nose cut by a nail. Mr. Vandervoort sewed up the wound, Mr. John Lawson while coupling was caught between the tender and coach and had his right arm injured. Mr. W. T. Boulter, of Dr. Vandervoort, C. Gault, working in the machine shop, had his finger caught between the gears and was severely injured. Several bold and sturdy fellows, others with better judgment took the middle of the street. The snow lay should be repelled.

Several lots in Cornhill, London, in the immediate neighborhood of the Bank of England, were sold several days ago at a price that averaged £250 per foot, or some thing over $2,000 per acre. ### Church of the Redeemer.

A very large congregation assembled in the Church of the Redeemer last Sunday for the purpose of celebrating the 25th anniversary of the birth of our Lord. The subject, "Reveries of Christians" and handled his theme in a masterly manner. Sermons were given by the Rev. Mr. Gault, and the Rev. Mr. Anderson. Special collections will be taken at each service for the Widows and Orphans and for the aged and infirm. The topic of the evening will be "Cain and Abel" the first of the "Brother's course of lectures." All welcomed.

Royal Templars.

Deseronto and Brant councils of the Royal Templars are both prospering and the membership in both lodges is rapidly increasing. There were ten initiations at Deseronto Council last Wednesday evening. It is difficult to find a better assembly of good looking young men than may be found at the meetings of Deseronto Council. A stirring debate, in which the sides were captained by Miss Paul and Miss Gertrude Brown, was listened to with great interest at the last meeting. The council at its last meeting decided to carry on more aggressive work.

Thanks.

Our thanks are due to all who so promptly and cheerfully settled their accounts during the past week. Newspaper offices suffer severely in a financial way from the presence of a large number of outstanding accounts. Generally these are individually very small and therefore considered to be of little consequence in the aggregate they swell to a large sum. Hence the duty of each of our patrons settling promptly. The press association at its recent meeting moved unanimously to the effect that each newspaper should insist upon payment in advance for all subscriptions. Look at your receipts and settle your accounts.

Grand Lodge, A. O. U. W.

Mr. Wyrly P. Mark has been in Toronto this week attending the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen. The report shows great progress during the past year. Eleven new lodges were instituted and there was an increase in membership of 2,339. There are now 17,080 Workmen in Ontario which makes it the third largest Grand Lodge in the order. The total membership of the whole order on Jan. 1st, 1893, was 304,034, the net gain for the preceding twelve months being 30,340.

A Settlement Arranged.

The trouble about the custodianship of the Queen Anne's Hotel, which has been agitating circles on the reserve for some months, has been settled. Deputations representing both contending parties appeared before Judge Wilkinson and Archdeacon Jones, who had been selected as arbitrator. The matter was settled on Wednesday last week. These gentlemen, after hearing the arguments of both sides, considered that Mrs. J. W. Hill should be the custodian, and in confirmation of the decision the silver service was placed in the hands of Mr. Matthew Hill, the Indian agent, who has delivered it over to Mrs. Hill. It will be remembered that the service was a twenty-two years custodian of this valuable historic service. She is 78 years of age, and has been married to Mr. W. Hill for 54 years. She is a native of the Mohawk and her husband, Capt. Brant, of Tyndyng, after whom the adjoining township is named. Her home is on the reserve near Peterson's ferry, about two miles from Deseronto.

Killed at Point Ann.

Mr. Miles Robertson, foreman at Point Ann quarries below Belleville, was fatally injured last Friday morning and died the same day. A stone weighing about 100 lbs. had been placed on the car to be taken out of the quarry. The car started in a slanting position and the men to hoist the derrick, in order to allow him to place a block under the stone. When the stone was again lowered on the derrick it tipped the wrong way and the stone went whirling struck the unfortunate man in the abdomen. The poor victim was almost cut in two and when he was taken out of the car it tipped the wrong way and the stone went whirling struck the unfortunate man in the abdomen. The poor victim was almost cut in two and when he was taken out of the car it tipped the wrong way and the stone went whirling struck the unfortunate man in the abdomen. 1914 MONTREAL.

We offer hearty New Year's Greetings to our numerous customers, and sincerely thank them for the liberal patronage bestowed upon us during 1892.

Our stock taking is now over, and we shall at once begin a clearing sale. All Fall and Winter Goods must be sold regardless of value, as our store is too small to carry unseasonable stock.

Any person who is watching the tendency of business affairs in Deseronto can clearly see that it is not only in an active condition, but about to enter a period of much more animation and prosperity. Cheerfulness and confidence pervade all classes of our people, and there is an evident determination on the part of all to press onward in every enterprise and gain the greatest success in every occupation. When such a state of feeling is general among the masses we may well look for an era of universal prosperity. These bright prospects have prompted us to make unusually large importations of Spring Goods, for which we must make room.

If we have not had the pleasure of doing business with you in the past we shall be glad to number you with our customers for 1893.

Our stock in the following lines will be fully assorted with the very best goods obtainable and sold at prices which cannot fail to satisfy purchasers:

- Dry Goods, Imported and Domestic.
- Merchant Tailoring and Ready-made Clothing.
- Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, and all kinds of Footwear.
- Carpets in all the different makes.
- Oilcloths and Linoleums.
- Hardware, Shelf and Heavy. Stoves, Tinware, etc.
- Groceries and Provisions. Everything you use.
- Paints, Oils of every description.
- Crockery and Glassware.
- Salt, Building Paper, Water Lime, etc.

Customers, once secured, invariably continue to be such. We solicit your trade and will appreciate your favors.

THE BUDGET SPEECH.

A Reduction of the Duties on

COAL OIL AND BINDER TWINE

Other Reductions to be Considered.

The Export Duty on Logs Will Not Now Be Imposed. But May Be Later On—Mining Machinery Still Exempted—Preferential Trade a Big Plank in the Conservative Platform—Cartwright Condemned the Policy of the Government—Presented—Large Increase in Exports.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—The Budget Speech of the Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Finance, delivered yesterday, was one of the very best of his kind ever heard since Confederation. The galleries were packed on the four sides of the chamber. Nearly every member was in his seat.

Lady Thompson and Miss Thompson and the wives and daughters of a great many ministers and members filled the Speaker's gallery, while in the Senators' gallery there was a goodly attendance of the old gentlemen and their lady friends.

Mr. Foster's speech occupied exactly two hours and 20 minutes, the last hour of which was devoted to the tariff, its effect upon the country, and the proposed revision and present amendments brought down by the Government.

Mr. Foster is a night man in his 46th year, weighing less than 140 pounds, with a small, well-shaped head covered with fine brown hair, not often cut but always well brushed, and a mustache and half-pointed beard, and spectacles of a high power always on his nose.

He wore a black morning coat, stood up quite erect in his place and is very free and easy on his feet in a business suit. His voice and cast of manner are all flavored with his early occupation of teacher. He has a well-pitched voice, and his address is marked by a frequent emphasis on many of his words.

During the course of his speech Mr. Foster was loudly cheered by his followers, and especially when he took a shot at his opponents across the way. The Opposition listened in good temper, and gave him, as he everyone in the House, an attentive hearing.

Mr. Foster opened by reviewing the revenue and expenditure for the past year, which had resulted very amply as he had forecast in March last. The revenue had been $38,921,871, a decrease from the previous year of $1,657,000.

He went over the increases and decreases which had taken place in imports, the most noticeable of which was the remarkable increase in the quantity of sugar imported, which was $45,418,485 pounds, or an average of about 70 pounds for every man, woman and child in the Dominion.

All the duty collected on sugar was $7,823, built the duty had been estimated at $20,485 in 1891 and the old doctrine had been maintained, the duty would have amounted to $5,418,918, so that, even allowing for the increase in excise duties, the decrease of taxation had been about four and three-quarter millions, or about 90 cents per head of the population.

It was the fashion, he said, to pretend that taxation was lower under the Mackenzie regime, but on the articles of tea, coffee and sugar alone there had been a saving to the people of $8,833,000, from what it would have been had the duties remained as they were under Mr. Mackenzie.

Turning to the expenditure, he said that they showed an increase of $422,327, but this was entirely covered by the long session of 1891, which had cost $1,209,875, as compared with an expenditure of $206,485 the previous session. He added, amid laughter from the Conservative side, that the revenue was an expenditure of $206,485 over the length of the session and had given no occasion for it.

From 1867 to last year the expenditure had been the largest since a dead level, and it would not have increased last year but for the long session. This was the best answer to the charge that the Government were extravagant.

With regard to the debt he pointed out that for several years there had practically been no increase, but the reduction of the tariff by the removal of sugar duties had caused an increase of $3,322,403 last year. For the current year he estimated that the revenue was an expenditure of $206,485 over the length of the session and had given no occasion for it.

Turning to the commerce of the country he regretted that the statistics relating to internal trade were not more complete and hoped that the new Bureau of Trade and Commerce would do something in the way of improving these statistics. In foreign commerce, however, the increase had been the largest ever known.

In round numbers the exports in 1878 amounted to $79,000,000, in 1891 to $98,000,000 and in 1892 to $114,000,000. The percentage of increase in 1892 was the largest ever known. He then entered into details of the export trade, showing how greatly the trade with Great Britain had increased, as well as the trade with Germany, France, the West Indies and other countries.

Trade with the United States had decreased, and this he attributed largely to the McKinley tariff. He dealt at some length on the development of our trade with Great Britain, and pointed out the great increase which had taken place in our exports of cheese, bacon, eggs and other articles to that country.

At 47 minutes past 4 he turned his attention to the tariff, saying that no man with his eyes open could deny that the tariff was attracting great attention. There is a good deal of agitation on the subject and a good deal of discussion. He reviewed the three propositions of free trade, revenue tariff and moderate protection, pointing out why the latter was best suited to Canada.

With regard to preferential trade within the empire, he said that the idea of preferential free trade between the islands and countries embraced within the British Empire was a very seductive one, but he doubted whether it was one which could be carried out immediately. If it could be brought about he thought it would be the highest, greatest and grandest achievement ever accomplished in the world's history. It was so great an idea that it would be well for Canada to hold herself in a position to take advantage of it should it ever become practicable.

Parliament was already pledged to the principle of preferential free trade, and Mr. Foster said that he thought it was the principle of the future in Great Britain.

were becoming impressed with its importance. It did not appear as if it was immediately practicable, but still changes of opinion sometimes came very swiftly, and it was well to be prepared.

Coming to the question of tariff changes, he said in effect that the Government proposed to make a thorough investigation of the subject during summer, and if any changes were found necessary they would be proposed next year. There were a few items, however, which it was proposed to deal with this year.

With regard to the export duty on logs he said that question would be examined during the summer, but clearly indicated that if the duty was reimposed as proposed would be paid to any conditions which had been incorporated in timber limits sales.

With regard to coal oil he had decided to let the duty of seven and one-fifth cents per imperial gallon remain, but to remove the incidental protection in the way of importation in bulk, duty on barrels and inspection, which was estimated to amount to about two cents a gallon.

With regard to binder twine the duty was reduced from twenty-five per cent to twelve and one-half per cent. The present exemption from duty of mining machinery was extended for three years.

Sir Richard Cartwright spoke for about an hour and a half, replying to Mr. Foster and criticizing the policy of the Government, which he strongly condemned. In conclusion he moved the following amendment:

"That the present customs tariff be heavily and unjustly upon the great consuming classes of the Dominion and should be reformed in the direction of freer trade, and that the amount of taxes collected be limited to an amount sufficient to meet the necessities of government efficiently and economically administered."

Hon. Mr. Haggart moved the adjournment of the debate.

Sir John Thompson moved that the debate be continued from day to day. Carried.

TWO FAILURES.

The Total Liabilities in One Aggregate $24,000, and in the Other $17,000.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—A meeting of the creditors of Begg & Co. of Collingwood, and of the creditors of the same city, when the assignees, John McCullough, brought down the statement showing liabilities of $23,935, and assets of $12,577, leaving an apparent deficit of $11,357. The firm consisted of C. G. Begg, the man in the concern was W. G. Begg, who managed the whole of the business. Assignment was made by this firm about three years ago, when they compromised at 75 cents on the dollar. It appears they have had several losses by fire. No offer was made by the insolvent stock will be sold within the next week by public auction. The inspectors appointed were Mr. Hyatt, Mr. Lacey and Mr. Blackley.

The meeting was adjourned for two weeks in order to await the result of the sale. The principal creditors are in Toronto. South of the latter place being in for $3095. They hold an assignment of the book accounts, notes and acceptances of the insolvent security.

The assignee's meeting of creditors in the matter of Patterson & Co. of Lindsay was held in this city yesterday. The statement brought down by Mr. McCullough, the assignee, shows liabilities of $17,000 with assets amounting to about $10,000. The reason advanced by the insolvent for the deficit was loss on stock at Fenton's sale, too advertising and printing. The insolvent were visited by a short time ago, and although the matter is not yet adjusted, the assignee hopes to get about $2000 insurance, which added to $10,000 worth of stock, will bring the assets up to $15,000.

Mr. Patterson made an offer of 40 cents on the dollar, 30 cents payable in 30 days, 10 cents in two months, and the balance in three months, the meeting being adjourned for a week in order to hear from the creditors as to their acceptance of the insolvent's offer. Mr. Watson, Mr. Caldwell and Mr. J. A. Macintosh were appointed inspectors of the estate. The larger creditors are: Caldwell & Co., $2300; Lacey, Watson & Co., $1800; John Macdonald & Co., $1800; Hinchinson & Co., $1000; Simpson, Kennedy & Co., $800 and Thibodeau Bros. & Co., $1700, the latter being a Montreal firm.

INCOMPATIBILITY.

A Thoughtful, Sensible Article For Single Women.

Said a brilliant woman, whom not one of the refined coterie who heard her thought of calling "immoral": "At eighteen I married, of my own foolish will, a man of fifty, who seduced me. At twenty I had learned that it would be a sin to waste my full young life—the only life I could know this side of the grave—in so monstrous a union. He was a good man, and, according to his lights, a model husband. I could not but respect him, but we had not one emotion in common. We were wholly incompatible in feeling, sentiment, nature. Upon this ground, and this alone, I obtained a divorce."

That a young sentimental verbiage and this woman's case stands thus: Her husband's ideas and tastes were not to her apprehension, favorable to the development of what she sketched as the life she ought to lead. Her individual happiness outweighed all other considerations in her mind. The marriage vow, uttered by her own free will, because she then fancied that she was forwarding her selfish interests by the union, became a rope of sand when inclination veered to another quarter.

There is an extreme of altruism which is fanatical. Said egotism of the type here avowed can never be anything but contemptible.

It is good if honestly wisdom to make the best of a bad bargain. Our representative incompatibility made the worst of one that, to dispassionate judges, was only doubtful. Carlyle's caustic reminder to the complaining egotist that "there is no act of Parliament to the effect that then should be happy," comes intelligently here. The applicant at twenty, against her eighteen year old self was by her own confession incapable of standing in her lot and conquering circumstances. In demanding that everything in her environment should be auspicious to her growth in the direction indicated by wilful imagination, she testified to her inability to bear and to perform what Providence or fate or her own ill-judged desires had brought to her.

We look is not Eden any more than men and women are angels while wearing the garment of mortality. The united pair, turning from the altar, albeit one in name, and, for the time, in no more made perfect in patience and wisdom than in holiness and happiness. How they fare in the novel state, entered upon with unusual eagerness, will depend as much upon the discipline of temper and will, and the practice of the every day graces of mercy, goodness, and truth, as if each had continued to lead an existence detached from the other, and been compelled to defer to the whims of blood relatives and to consult the wishes of chance associates.

The serious mistake that lies at the root of this form of wedded wretchedness is the failure to see in another's perfection, without which ballad-makers and romance-writers tell us marriage is a mockery. Nobody can live up to a standard as false as it is mischievous. Husbands and wives are as fallible as if they had never been in love, and hoped, through love, to find a terrestrial heaven. There is a noble way of pursuing personal happiness for the mutual affection which, thanks to Him who implanted it, yields but slowly to the pressure of crucial disappointment. It is refined and strengthened by sustained effort to rise superior to the disposition to seek out infirmities and to punish wrong doing. With each victory over selfish ease and desire it approximates the love that to gentleness, love suffering adds belief and hope in all good and gracious possibilities.—Marion Harland, in Harper's Bazar.

Civilization Brings Short Sight.
The subject of short-sightedness in animals was under consideration at a meeting of the Paris Academy of Medicine, when M. Motais, Angers, made the claim that this defect in vision is one of the products of civilization. An unexpected proof of this view was found in the condition of wild beasts, such as tigers, lions, etc. M. Motais having examined their eyes by means of the ophthalmoscope, discovered that those captured after the age of six or eight months retained the long sight natural to them, but that those made captive before that age were blind in a state of captivity were short sighted. Some time since a case was published of a horse in this country that wears spectacles. The farmer who owned him, having come to the conclusion from various symptoms that the horse was short sighted, got an oculist to take the necessary measurements and had a pair of spectacles manufactured for him. They were made to fasten firmly into the headstall, so that they did not shake out of place. At first the horse appeared startled by this addition to his harness, but he soon got used to his glasses and liked them. "In fact," said the owner to a Brooklyn Eagle man, "when I turned him out to pasture he felt uneasy and uncomfortable without his goggles, and one Sunday he hung round the barn and whined so plaintively that I put the headstall and goggles on him and he was so glad that he rubbed my shoulder with his nose." It is thought that the vice of shy, which spoils so many otherwise valuable horses, is induced by short-sightedness. The animal cannot see some particular object sufficiently plainly to feel sure that it is of a harmless nature and so shies away from it. Owners of dogs may often prove that their pets suffer from short sight, for it will often be found that a dog is unable to recognize people with whose appearance it is most intimate when they are a little way off, while another dog, at the same distance, has no difficulty whatever in recognizing them. Dogs have been provided with spectacles in the same way as the farmer's horse alluded to, and have been conclusively shown to have derived great benefit from them.

Cultivate Refinement.
Do not draw into your shell. So much is to be gained by contact with the outside world. The influence of the social current has the same effect upon human nature as that produced by the constant friction of the sea upon the pebbles on the beach. Rough corners are polished, and sharp angles smoothed down into symmetrical proportions. But it is not enough to be simply in the world. One must, to be happy, cultivate that society which elevates and ennobles. Seek recreation for mind and body among a set of people who hold broad views of living. Narrow minded men and women, and the world in full of them, will only give you distorted ideas of life. These will change the sunniest and most healthful disposition into one morose, churlish and ill-natured.

THE TERRA COTTA INDUSTRY.

When our forests are cleared away, when the lofty pines and sturdy oaks and leafy maples are thinned out, when it will no longer pay to collect and bring the logs to the mills—must Deseronto then become a deserted town? Echo answers, No. In the old world when the forests disappeared the people found coal; in the new world when the settlers had split the walnut into fence rails and were looking for supplies of fuel and light, coal oil was discovered. When the oil wells were ceasing to flow natural gas came to the surface, and is now controlled in order to furnish heat and power. Then again the more subtle elements of nature are utilized and men now produce electricity for light, fuel, and many other purposes.

In this district of Canada neither coal, oil nor natural gas are found in the rocky strata. The hardy pioneers of the past frequently utilized what can be done in the way of illustrating the raw material in the country tributary to Deseronto. Of late years they have taken time by the forelock and turned to account a material with which nature has richly endowed the Bay of Quinte district as well as other portions of Ontario. This material was not gold or silver, or other metal long hidden under the pine stump. It was of more common form—clay, more homely clay—which, had to be moved out of the way of railways, those great channels of commerce. Little did the savages who delved and trundled off the apparently useless material think that one day the principal freight that would be carried over the road would be the same clay, fashioned into shapes useful and ornamented, vitrified by fire and destined to fill the place once thought to be monopolized by wood and iron. This town of Deseronto built up and rendered famous by its manufacture of the products of the forest will still continue to employ its thousands of hands. Their exertions will be turned into new channels; instead of being directed to lumber piles they will be occupied on the piles of Terra Cotta ware and kindred industries, and instead of the buzzing of the glistering saws we will hear the grinding of the clay crusher. It is but dwelling upon this community how many uses can be made of clay. What is there indeed into which it cannot be made and that too better and at less expense than with other materials? Let us take an illustration. The usefulness of a cedar chest is only confined at best to a period of a few years; but a clay shingle will practically last forever.

The term "Terra Cotta" is of Italian derivation, and, literally translated, means baked or baked earth. In dealing with Terra Cotta we are not experimenting with a new and untried material but we are reviving the oldest architectural composition. Its modern employment is but a revived taste and is the result of laudable efforts on the part of the best architects to secure lasting and honest material in lieu of the sham and dishonest effects produced by galvanized iron. It is not considered a grand work of art to make a piece of wood take the appearance of stone. When iron or other materials wear usake and are not what they represent themselves for, they become counterfeit. Terra Cotta is not intended to represent any other material and to use it in that way is to make a deception of it. It is subject to all colors from the mixtures of clays and action of chemical and mineral matters added to the mass. These colors so produced are permanent and one of the pleasures which arise from the use of Terra Cotta is the satisfaction engendered by the admirable mimicry of material. We cannot pay a more eloquent tribute to Terra Cotta than by taking a few sentences translated from the French of Jacques Coustou. "In the grandeur of the expiring Roman Empire when the people were robed in blue and purple, and when even the lowliest of the masses were covered with rich embroideries, pearls and other precious stones, even when vessels of gold and silver, and costly furniture supererogated the earthen pottery for ornaments of the temple, and with the wealth, there was symmetry in every line engendered by the admirable mimicry of nature, when golden ground mosaics illuminated the domes, and the rich columns formed by the marble, and the humble Terra Cotta introduced itself among all the splendor. The bold cupolas which the eye hesitated to measure under their dazzling masses which, if constructed of stone would have sunk of their own weight, those cupolas owe their existence still, to excite our admiration, to the judicious employment of Terra Cotta in hollow form."

Mr. Walter Smith grows equally eloquent on the permanency of Terra Cotta after pointing out the noble examples in England and the United States. "Terra Cotta with form displays every colour known in art, except gold and silver, and the colours no possible condition of the atmosphere can destroy. Even when heat is consumed with a fervent heat Terra Cotta will be left behind us as a permanent record of our civilization. You may reduce all the pictures in the world to tinder, melt all the bronze statues until they run in the gutters; reduce the marble statues into plaster of Paris, burn all the buildings into lime and all animal creatures and vegetation into ashes; and all the while Terra Cotta will stand firm and remain unimpaired and cool down again into the shape we fashioned it. It is the noblest of all vehicles for the expression of art. It may be difficult to decide what else it is. The clay which would be even comparatively permanent in any great universal shock or replete into barbarism." Mr. Walter Smith in pointing out the most noble examples of the use of Terra Cotta in modern days refers to the permanent portion of the South Kensington Museum in London. "Every portion of the facade is in a Venetian renaissance in Terra Cotta of a cream colour. The columns, which are richly covered with figures emblematic of the seven ages and of the arts and sciences, there in immense blocks of this material with string courses and mouldings, straight and square as if worked in stone, while the surface is as hard as cast iron, uniform in colour. Altogether it is a brilliant success and it has these advantages, viz: the miserable climate and dense atmosphere of London cannot defile it for the surface is hard and smooth and every storm of rain and every gale of wind remove impurity as they would from a white plate. After the exposure of years they are as fresh as the day they were erected, while stone work which has not been up long is as black as the inside of a chimney."

Chicago found at its big fire that cast iron buildings were not fire proof. Boston found the same thing after the great fire. The grand works of art and sculpture are first produced in clay, and the transformation of the created work of art into marble is but a work of patience for the skilled artisan to give the artist's conception in an imperishable material. Why not burn the clay and make works of art proper with every kind of the master's tool? A grand work of art would in Terra Cotta be the original, or the original duplicated from a mould, which would be more accurate than a mere copy in marble. If in gold it would be no more artistic and would only be valued for its weight of the precious metal.

But let art take care of itself and let us turn our attention to the practical and consider the benefits to be derived from the proper use of Terra Cotta in building operations. Timber will rot, stone, even granite, will disintegrate, iron will oxidize, and these are the other materials they were the action of fire and other destroying influences of the elements, but Terra Cotta properly made will pass through centuries and will be the last to yield to the influences before which all natural products must give way.

The Italian architect, perceiving all the advantages to be derived from this great industry, so rapidly coming to the fore, and so long appreciated, have honored it with a factory more spacious than any devoted to their other numerous enterprises. The wares turned out are of varied descriptions and uses. Large quantities of hollow brick are made, and there is a vast future before this branch of the industry. These bricks have a resisting power for carrying weight equal to the old common solid brick, and on account of their lightness can be used in the erection of walls higher than are generally built of ordinary brick. The hollow cavities prevent the dampness from penetrating through the wall and make the best groundwork to receive plaster, while they give a hard, solid interior, dry, saving lat and nails, and leaving nothing whatever upon which the fiery fiend may feed. Particulars of this material are impenetrable to all acids and are not harmed by vermin. The outside can be artistically decorated in all styles of architecture, from plain surfaces to moulding arches and all sorts of architectural ornaments. The modern building of the twentieth century is a skeleton of steel covered inside and decorated outside with Terra Cotta, the floors being laid on porous Terra Cotta and finished with floor tile, and the roof covered with glazed Terra Cotta shingles. Such a building, erected by an artist-architect, must be a joy forever. At the factory can be seen porous Terra Cotta in all its shapes and architectural Terra Cotta fashioned for all conceivable positions. Roof tile are turned out in all sizes, dimensions and degrees of hardness, plain and light, perfect in form and second to none made elsewhere. We present the readers of THE TRIBUNE with a cut of a piece of work executed at the Terra Cotta factory of the Bathurst Company. It represents an Indian girl of Tyrindaga. Visitors to the works have been struck by their expressions of admiration, and Mr. Hynes, the artist, has come in for many deserved compliments on the performance of his self-imposed task. The statue is the property of E. W. Bathurst, Esq.

Belleville expects another flood this spring.

The County Treasurer announces that the annual sale of land for taxes will be held at the court house, Belleville, on Tuesday, March 14th.

Rev. Dr. Johnston, a prominent Methodist minister who has filled many of the pulpits in Canada, has accepted a call to a congregation at Washington, D.C.

Mr. A. I. Vanleue, collector of customs at Newcastle, is dying of paralysis of the brain. He has been for many years Grand Secretary of the Provincial Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East.

A proper simile: "She is a perfect Amazon." "Why do you say that?" "She is not at all like the Amazons of old." "Oh no; I mean like the river. She has a large mouth and bubbles on for ever."

The moon has "sworn off" for a while. It was full twice last month, but will not get in that condition at all this month. This will make no difference with the sun. He will be full as usual every day.

The Farmers' returns thanks to all friends who have responded so readily in the settlement of their accounts and subscriptions. The month will soon end and our books be closed for the financial year.

The Rathbun Company's large ice house up the shore is now filled with fine clear ice, averaging 23 or 24 inches thick. There are nine tiers, each tier containing 100 tons, and each cake averaging 800 lbs. weight.

A man said to a petting lawyer, "I have a cause so bad or an individual so infamous that your services cannot be obtained." "I cannot say," said the barrister, "what have you been doing?"

The congregation of the Tabernacle Methodist church, Belleville, have extended a very hearty invitation to Rev. D. O. Cronley to remain for a third year as their pastor. Under his able direction the debt on the church has been reduced by $3,000.

The Ontario government has issued instructions to the municipal clerk throughout the province to prosecute all persons who fail or neglect to comply with the laws requiring the registration of births, marriages and deaths. The penalty for each offence is $20 and costs.

George Nigh, of Springfield, near North Bay, sold a tree in the bush which, when cut down, measured six feet across the stump end, and was sixty feet long after leaving a six foot top. The top was cut into twenty-inch stove lengths, made about twenty cords of good wood.

Five bye-elections have occurred during the past ten weeks in England. The Gladstones have won two, the Poles and Hexham, from the opposition. The political complexion of the other three remains unchanged, North and South Moth again returning Anti-Parliament and Stockport a Conservative.

The annual reports of the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer have been neatly printed in pamphlet form at this printing office. The reports contain many compliments for their excellent workman. This congregation has an enviable reputation for the methodical manner in which its reports are yearly printed.

The debate on the budget is still in progress in the house of commons and there have been several lively passages-at-arms between opposing members. Mr. Calvin, of Frontenac, created a sensation on Wednesday night by declaring his intention to vote for Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment favoring freer trade and reduction of taxes.

A party of young folk who drove out to Selby to attend the revival services last Sunday were caught in a snow storm and were compelled to spend the night at a hospitable farm house. They managed to reach town Monday afternoon. Some of the young ladies were very joy when reaching Wilson's Hill, the smoking chimneys of Deseronto loomed up through the drifting snow.

Dr. Oroschytzka, Supreme Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters, and president of the Canadian Foresters' association, at the annual meeting of the latter body made his report and in it furnished a number of tables showing the comparative cost of insurance between local companies and fraternal societies. So elaborate and complete was the report that it was ordered to be printed in pamphlet form for distribution.

Mr. Cleveland has completed his cabinet as follows: Walter G. Graham, of Indiana, secretary of state; Daniel S. Lamont, of New York, secretary of war; H. A. Herbert, of Alabama, secretary of the navy; Hoke Smith, of Georgia, secretary of the interior; J. Sterling Morton, of Nebraska, secretary of agriculture; Wilson S. Bissell, of New York, postmaster general; Richard Olney, of Massachusetts, attorney general; John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, secretary of the treasury.

A prominent Cedar Mill functionary, who has been visiting at Bay View Ranch, passed through some thrilling experiences while snowed out to town during the height of the blizzard last Sunday night. He fell over a money precipice at one point in his journey, his head being almost a fathom below the surface of the beautiful snow while his feet gracefully swayed backward and forward under the influence of the Manitoba zephyr. It was only by superhuman efforts that he extricated himself. The episode has been faithfully recorded in the chronicles of the Deseronto Amateur Minstrels.

It was only by superhuman efforts that he extricated himself. The episode has been faithfully recorded in the chronicles of the Deseronto Amateur Minstrels.

A prominent Cedar Mill functionary, who has been visiting at Bay View Ranch, passed through some thrilling experiences while snowed out to town during the height of the blizzard last Sunday night. He fell over a money precipice at one point in his journey, his head being almost a fathom below the surface of the beautiful snow while his feet gracefully swayed backward and forward under the influence of the Manitoba zephyr. It was only by superhuman efforts that he extricated himself. The episode has been faithfully recorded in the chronicles of the Deseronto Amateur Minstrels.

The Napanee road was completely blocked for a day or two this week, and teams had to take to the ice in driving between the two towns.

All the gratings and water courses should be opened in preparation for the great thaw which will probably be on us before many weeks elapse.

It is said there will be a lively contest for the vacant rectorship. People are tired of the dull monotony of winter and are anxious for excitement.

A number of ladies chartered one of Gault's carriages and drove to Belleville last Saturday. It is needless to say that they greatly enjoyed their trip.

The Amateur Minstrels are practicing diligently. The songs and jokes will all be new. The fancy dress will be worthy of the superb corps who will participate.

The second annual convention of the Young People's Association of the Methodist church in Ontario will be held in Toronto on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Mamma—"Now, dear, can you remember anything about the sermon?" "Small daughter—" "Oh, yes, mamma! It was all about the foolish people that strain at gnat and swallow camels."

At a convention of the Reformers of East Hastings held at Canifford yesterday, Mr. N. M. Vermilyea, Reeve of Thurston, was unanimously chosen as the candidate for the legislative assembly at the next session.

Church of the Redeemer.

There will be services at the usual hours in the Church of the Redeemer, next Sunday. The theme of the evening lecture will be "Cain's Mark and Question, 'Am I my brother's keeper?'"

Ministry Meetings.

The annual ministry meetings will be held on Tuesday, Reserve week, Sunday, at Christ Church in the forenoon and All Saints in the afternoon. Rev. H. B. Patton will preside at the latter meeting. All are cordially invited to attend these interesting meetings.

Missionary Meetings at Kingsford.

On account of the roads being blocked the missionary meetings at Kingsford church, Kingsford, was not held last Monday night, but it will (D.V.) be held on Monday next, 27th inst., at 7:30 p.m. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. G. A. Anderson and H. B. Patton, of Deseronto.

Mill Burned.

The Rathbun Company's mill at Campbellford was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. It was closed for the winter and no one was working in it, the usual spring repairs not having been begun. The mill was insured for $6,000 on the building and contents. The fire was not damaged to any extent. The fire is no doubt of incendiary origin, as several lines have taken place at Campbellford. It is the past month and no reason is known for any of them. The Company will rebuild.

Regent Temple.

Bro. J. M. Smith is a delegate from Deseronto Council to the Grand Council of Royal Templars at Kingston on Tuesday. The famous team of "Crusaders" have been again invited to Deseronto Council to visit Deseronto and hold a series of meetings about 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 2nd. The Crusaders did excellent work during their former stay in Deseronto. The meetings will be held in Union hall.

High School Board.

Dr. Newton, on the 13th inst., tendered his resignation as a member of the Deseronto high school board. At a meeting held on the 20th inst., the board regrettably accepted of his resignation. The resignation was requested to notify the County Council and ask that body to fill the vacancy at next meeting. Mr. G. W. Wright was elected clerk of the board. The resignation of the retiring member having filled that position, The Doctor took a deep interest in school matters and his retirement from the board will be regretted.

Salvation Army.

Capt. Blois and Lieutenant Sprague are the officers now in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army. They are meeting with much encouragement in their work and are becoming increasingly popular in the community. Rev. R. B. Patton, of French Canadian from Kingston, will conduct a special meeting in the Barracks, on Tuesday evening, March 2nd, in behalf of the Salvation Army. The meeting will be a thrilling sketch of his life's history. Everybody welcome. The meeting commences at 8 p.m. Silver collection taken at the door.

The Truancy Act.

Chief Gunyon, who is also truant officer, has been turning his attention to some offenders against the truancy act. It is hoped that he will perform his duty without fear or favor. There are about two hundred children for whom this act was passed in Deseronto alone. The officer has evidently a great deal of work to perform if his multitude is to be gathered into the school this term. It is a great pity the task had not been commenced at the beginning of the school year. Now that the School Board has taken the field in hand the law will not be rigidly enforced in all cases.

Methodist Church.

The special meetings held here for the last three weeks have been interesting from the first and have resulted in quickening the membership in greater spiritual energy and the conversion of a number of new converts. On Sunday next Rev. George Stafford, formerly with W. A. Dunnatt, of a R. T. of revival team, will be the speaker for two nights and will also preach in the evening. Mr. Stafford has been in the Christian ministry almost from the time of his last visit to Deseronto; and many of his old friends will be glad to see and hear him again.

Odd-fellows Fraternizing.

On Wednesday evening about thirty-five members of Argyle lodge, No. 212, and Napanee lodge, No. 86, came up from Napanee to pay an old friend a prolonged business trip to the brethren of Deseronto lodge, No. 102. During the session of the lodge there were three initiations, the team from Napanee performing the ceremony for two initiates and the Deseronto team for the remaining candidate. Both ceremonies were well exemplified. During the evening there were proposals for membership. After the lodge closed the visiting brethren were very hospitably entertained by the Deseronto Odd-fellows at a banquet at the home of Mrs. E. H. Patton, where about eighty members of the craft sat down to a sumptuous repast, prepared in first-class style by the staff of that popular hostelry. A very pleasant time was passed, the visitors expressing themselves as more than pleased with their reception. Much of the success of the affair was due to the committee of management, Bro. R. N. Irvine E. W. Scott and R. H. Bogart.

Obituary.

The Napanee Branch of the 10th inst. thus refers to the death of an estimable young lady, who died on the 6th inst. Deceased was a niece of Mrs. Wm. Burnip, of Deseronto. "It is our duty this week to announce the death of Miss Victoria Wagar, of South Napanee, in the first blush of womanhood, and when she had arrived at an age when she was beginning to show the Christian virtues and diversified talents were being recognized by her parents and associates."

Deceased was but 17 years of age. She was a beautiful floral wreath from parents and friends with all who knew her. She was a regular attendant of the Western Methodist Sabbath school, and was attending the College Institute until a week ago, and expected to receive her diploma. To show their appreciation of her worth and to show their love to the teachers and pupils of the institution, a beautiful floral wreath was placed on her coffin. Her death was a great loss to the community in their bereavement, especially as she was a niece of one of our very best citizens, whose death terminated so fatally in his sister's case.

West End Mission.

The West End Mission continues to prosper under the indefatigable labors of Mr. Lowe, the devoted missionary in charge. On Monday night a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was organized with sixteen active members.

Favorable Stock.

During his recent visit to Toronto Mr. J. C. Hanley, of Road, purchased a fine bull of an important "Toll-free," the first prize bull at the Industrial Exhibition last September, and an excellent milk. Mr. Hanley is determined to keep his herd second to none, and he is always in a position to supply the farmers in this section with the best of the most useful and profitable kind. He has great faith in the future of the Durham. While fully recognizing the merits of special purpose cattle and their advantage to specialists in their line, he firmly believes that for the general purpose farmer there is nothing to equal the Durham grade of good constitution and good milking strain. As far as his own observations extend he has never seen a successful dairy herd that had not a trace of Durham blood. Then when cows or heifers go wrong as they frequently will, or a farmer, from want of help or other cause, decides on changing his stock, he is sure to find that he can readily put in marketable condition as Shorthorn or other grades. Besides, nothing is better for the hard and cold weather than an early maturing Shorthorn steer. It will scarcely be claimed that the average Canadian dairy breeders or the common Canadian cattle will more than pay for their keep.

The Storm.

The weather during the past week was of a decidedly stormy nature. Sunday morning snow commenced to fall, and continued to do so very thickly all through the day, the wind being chiefly from the south-east. About 6:30 p.m. the wind turned to the north, and suddenly, without any warning, a fierce blizzard, similar to the genuine Manitoba article, commenced to rage. The rain was hidden with driving snow, which rendered objects invisible even only a few yards off. The gale raged all through the night, the temperature at some time greatly falling, until on Monday morning it reached ten degrees below zero. A brisk breeze prevailed all day Monday and Tuesday. As a result the light snow which fell on Sunday was whirled into great drifts in all directions and roads were blocked in all parts. The railways were closed, and many freight trains on the Grand Trunk found it impossible to proceed, while the Midland, Kingston and Pembroke, and several other lines had to suspend their runs. The various stage lines through the country were demoralized for several days, and ordinary travel was almost at a standstill. Roads running east and west, and high as the fences with firmly packed snow, and travelers who were on journeys have exciting episodes to recount. The various roads have been almost impassable in all directions are reported very heavy. The storm was one of the worst known during the past thirty years.

A CASE AT OSGOODE HALL.

Williams v. Rathbun Co.—Master for the plaintiff, motioned for an injunction to restrain the defendants from trespassing upon lot 12, in the first concession of the township of Kennebec, of which plaintiff is patentee from the crown. The defendants are patentees of timber limits, which, however, there is little or no timber, the lot having been lumbered over, and being largely used as pasture land. The defendants, in fact, do not pretend to be going upon the land to cut timber, but only for the purpose of hauling from other lots to a lake in the neighborhood. Walter Cassels, Q. C., for the defendants, contended that the lot was not theirs, and that the plaintiff was entitled to the land. The case is to be argued on Monday next.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Dr. E. Ming has been elected secretary of the Ontario Agricultural Society.
The Bay of Quinte District Exhibition will be held at Belleville, Sept. 10-20.
It is said that horses in many parts of the Bay district are suffering from pneumonia.
Division court will be held at Shannonville, May 10th, and at Deseronto, May 17th.
The military camp for this district will probably meet in Kingston about the 15th or 16th of June.
The staff of the office of the Harbour Company, Kingston, will move to new quarters next week.
H. Powers has been appointed steward of the steamer North King in place of Mr. Stevenson, resigned.
The citizens deserve great credit for the way in which they cleared their boardwalks of snow last Monday.
The thirty-second annual convention of the Ontario educational association will be held in Toronto in April.
The steamer North King is being thoroughly renovated.
Work, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, is progressing satisfactorily on the extension of the steamboat dock.
The case of Wright vs. Collier, touching the collision on the Bay near Glenora, has been carried to the court of appeal.
At a recent ball in Trenton a young lady of Deseronto is said to have been the belle of the evening. It could not be otherwise.
Mr. Robert Sedgewick, Q. C., deputy minister of justice, has been appointed a justice judge of the Supreme Court of Canada.
W. G. Parish's telephone plant at Athens and Charleston Lake has passed into the hands of the North American Telegraph Company, of Deseronto.
On Friday last the Harbour Company shipped a quantity of pine lumber to New Glasgow, N.S., to be used in the building of the first steel steamer constructed in Canada.
Mr. J. C. Allison, of the 3rd concession of Tyendinaga, was in town on Wednesday. He says he never saw their road so completely snowed full as it was on Monday and Tuesday.
A couple of carpet tacks, a nail and numerous bits of iron were taken from the stomach of a Kalamazoo boy who died the other day in an insane asylum. Boys will be boys.
The double tracking of the G. T. R. has necessitated the use of a new style of snow plow. When there was only a single track, a plow was used that threw the snow to each side, but it is not altogether useless for it simply covers up one track with snow. The plow now in use consists of one large wing that throws the snow to the outside of the track only.

MR. NORTHRUP'S SPEECH DURING THE BUDGET DEBATE.

The Toronto Empire thus reports Mr. Northrup's speech during the budget debate: Mr. Northrup was received with great cheering as he arose to continue the debate on the budget. He was very dry. Mr. Edgar was not in his place, but it seemed to him (Mr. Northrup) that the gentleman with all his financial ability ought to transfer his position from the House to the stock exchange of a neighboring city. Mr. Edgar had assured the House that the cotton companies had a profit of $8,000,000 annually. He (Mr. Northrup) had looked at the cotton companies' stock was quoted at 10 and 11, the Montreal Company's at 12 and 13, and the Dominion Cotton Company's at 13 to 13.75. Mr. Edgar had apparently disregarded the intelligence of the country when he suggested that these companies had made the handsome profit of $8,000,000 last year, and still the capitalists of the market would pay only the prices for the stock that he had named. Six or seven years after the National Policy had been adopted some of these stocks were offered at 35 cents on the dollar and some at 52 cents. This showed that undue advantage had not been given to the cotton manufacturers by the National Policy. (Mr. Northrup) lived in a city that had been robbed of $300,000 by a legislative enactment of Ontario, by which one railway had been allowed to monopolize and gobble up all the railways in the country. This monopoly had been engineered by the hon. member for West Ontario, Mr. Edgar, when Mr. Edgar condemned the Ontario Government for this most gigantic combination it would be better perhaps to condemn the cotton industry. He (Mr. Northrup) admitted that there was a feeling of unrest in this country. Certain politicians had gone to the United States and breadth of the country telling the people that the last election in the United States had been carried on under the distinct issue of free trade and protection, and many people had been led to believe in the idea that the United States was about to adopt free trade. A week ago when he was in New York, Mr. Northrup had found a feeling of unrest there, and he had been besieged by deputations urging him to lay before the Government the propriety of not removing the duty on wheat imported into Canada. Our farmers had decided to follow the line advocated by the experimental farm, of feeding their stock on their own crops and export the stock to another market. (Hear, hear.) The farmers felt it would be disastrous to have American corn come into competition with the grain grown in Canada. (Hear, hear.) The speaker then went on to describe the different kinds of arguments used by hon. gentlemen in their attempt to prove that the present policy was prosperous. One kind of argument was the construction of a tremendous mass of straw, and then this would be followed by the procedure of demolishing it by removing the duty on wheat. It was a very simple matter to win a battle of that kind, but it was not beneath the dignity of hon. members to waste the time of their fellow citizens in such a manner. That the Opposition protested against the charges of disloyalty. No one had stood up to say that party was disloyal. This was simply an argument of the character to which he had just referred. (Hear, hear.) One gentleman opposite had said he was prepared to adopt any line in place of the National Policy, whether it was concerned with or anything else. Was it right that any member of the House should be so indifferent to the interests of the country? He (Mr. Northrup) thought that character? (Hear, hear.) Some people had argued that the National Policy was synonymous with the tariff. There to this policy was the prosperity of the country, marred only by the evils of five years' misgovernment, was called to give a decision in 1878. At that time the Opposition had put before the people that branch of their policy was needed to be a remedy, and the people then adopted the National Policy, mainly no doubt as the result of the policy of the Government. It was the people of the country, and the Government, that were the cause of the construction of this road, which was the great factor of that election. Thus they had the National Policy, and national progress. (Cheers.) A few years later, in 1887, again the Government faced the people under the banner of the old National Policy in its financial ruin, and national prosperity. (Hear, hear.) Then they found that Mr. Blake admitted that it was impossible to carry on the government of the country by such a policy as the Government had in force. (Cheers.) When they were raised in 1891 and when the forces were prepared to do battle, when the Opposition said they or their hon. gentlemen opposite, which meant anarchy, a policy which drove the Grand Old Leader of the Government to write to the country, "If this was done, I would be British subject I shall die," the policy of the Government was the National Policy, national prosperity, national progress and national preservation. (Loud cheers.) The Toronto Globe had shown the policy of hon. gentlemen opposite who desired to tear down the fiscal policy of the Government brick by brick. The way of testing the prosperity of the country was to take into account the increased traffic on railways and the consequent increase in the increase of bank deposits, etc. If Canadian securities were higher in the open market, this was a proof of the prosperity of the country. (Hear, hear.) Some put the argument thus: "Granted that the population of the country in 1891 was 4,300,000, the population was about 4,800,000, an increase of about half a million, granted that the average rate of increase had been a great deal more than 12 per cent.; therefore hon. gentlemen opposite argued that as the white race had increased in the country, the population was not a prosperous country. He thought this was a very flimsy argument, and he addressed to the House this session as well as last session. Now, looking at the argument as an argument, no doubt, there was no flaw in it. All that was wanted was to examine the two premises and see whether or not they were founded upon fact or whether they were founded upon a statement that all nations which were prosperous had increased at the rate of 12 per cent. in population in 10 years. The simplest way to verify the statement was to consult the records of the other countries. The speaker then instanced the position of the United States, where the population had increased at the rate of 12 per cent. in 10 years before the birth of Christ.

A CASE OF SMITHS.

O YOU object to the window up there? No, sir. I like it. Can't live without it. Shall I help you? This is the best of the catch goods. Now we're comfortable. The two annual complacent travelers who thus addressed each other on a train bound for Albany. One was a small, thin man, with a long, crooked nose and a wide mouth; the other fat man with a generally prosperous and well-to-do air and a diamond the size of his thumb peeping above the top button of his long traveling coat. On this the eyes of the thin man rested admiringly, and, after a pause, he remarked: "That's a splendid diamond you've got there. I know one when I see it. I'm a jeweler up in Albany, and I can tell you that I have the pleasure of admiring such a stone as that." "How do you like that?" said the other traveler, extending his little finger and showing another diamond set in a thick gold ring. "Beautiful!" said the jeweler. "Beautiful!" "My wife has a whole set as handsome," said the fat gentleman. "I am, in fact, a jeweler, and I can tell you that I have the pleasure of admiring such a stone as that." "It is not wise for a young clerk to give a piece of his mind to his employer. I'd done that and had been dismissed, and I could not find another situation. I'd had a hard time in my pocket, and I have been farming for some time. I'm now just as happy as a clam, no doubt, but I hadn't a dollar, and I was ready to break down." "Thirsty as I was, hungry, and remembering that at a free reading room hard by they always had ice water on tap, I stunk in there, drank a couple of glasses and took up a morning paper." "I was deep in the column 'help wanted' when a hand came and laid me on the shoulder and a voice said: "'Are you John Smith?'" "Yes, I answered, turning to look at the slim boy in a linen jacket stood before me. He held a letter in his hand. "John P. Smith?" he asked, referring to it. "Yes," said I again. "I had been chastened John Poppington, after my great and noble deed of the country. He (Mr. Northrup) represented an agricultural constituency, and he claimed for that constituency the same protection as the other constituents of the country. (Loud cheers.)

Excess of Assets over Liabilities $2,531.63

(Signed) JAMES MCLELLAND, Auditor.

(Roberta Wilkinson, of Brownsville, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia and indigestion until my health was gone. I bought one bottle of Sarsaparilla and it did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every one to get it, as it is so valuable and lovely remedy." A trial will convince you. Sold by W. G. Edgar, 352

A CASE OF SMITHS.

O YOU object to the window up there? No, sir. I like it. Can't live without it. Shall I help you? This is the best of the catch goods. Now we're comfortable. The two annual complacent travelers who thus addressed each other on a train bound for Albany. One was a small, thin man, with a long, crooked nose and a wide mouth; the other fat man with a generally prosperous and well-to-do air and a diamond the size of his thumb peeping above the top button of his long traveling coat. On this the eyes of the thin man rested admiringly, and, after a pause, he remarked: "That's a splendid diamond you've got there. I know one when I see it. I'm a jeweler up in Albany, and I can tell you that I have the pleasure of admiring such a stone as that." "How do you like that?" said the other traveler, extending his little finger and showing another diamond set in a thick gold ring. "Beautiful!" said the jeweler. "Beautiful!" "My wife has a whole set as handsome," said the fat gentleman. "I am, in fact, a jeweler, and I can tell you that I have the pleasure of admiring such a stone as that." "It is not wise for a young clerk to give a piece of his mind to his employer. I'd done that and had been dismissed, and I could not find another situation. I'd had a hard time in my pocket, and I have been farming for some time. I'm now just as happy as a clam, no doubt, but I hadn't a dollar, and I was ready to break down." "Thirsty as I was, hungry, and remembering that at a free reading room hard by they always had ice water on tap, I stunk in there, drank a couple of glasses and took up a morning paper." "I was deep in the column 'help wanted' when a hand came and laid me on the shoulder and a voice said: "'Are you John Smith?'" "Yes, I answered, turning to look at the slim boy in a linen jacket stood before me. He held a letter in his hand. "John P. Smith?" he asked, referring to it. "Yes," said I again. "I had been chastened John Poppington, after my great and noble deed of the country. He (Mr. Northrup) represented an agricultural constituency, and he claimed for that constituency the same protection as the other constituents of the country. (Loud cheers.)

"The women were arrested. Lord Lumplum, the first and last of the Catherine and all was very general. The hotel men said, 'I went in, and after a short time in my pocket, I found the bright work of a girl. I found in all the papers and the following was welcome to the room. I took my little pile to Montana, bought a ranch and made my fortune. Well, good-bye, sir. Haven't a minute. The little fellow stuck his head out of the window to look after him, but he was gone, with a flash from his collar button and a flash from his finger. He looked lucky and perhaps his story was true,' thought the jeweler. "Who can tell?"—Chicago Post.

Duel Spelled by a Big Deal. Two professional men of Milan, Italy, who had repaired to a frontier village, so by an enormous St. Bernard dog, which appeared on the scene just as the two were taking their places. Several attempts to begin operations were made, but the dog interfered each time. Finally the rival duellists, in a moment of confusion, returned to Milan together.—New York World.

Parlor. Sin is seldom harmless. Melody is the molasses music. Spring is the "Jimmy" that opens the buds. Only God can control the human hand. The first offense may be an impulse. The second, never.

Never Tired Again. "Why don't you stop any more?" asked the robin of a thrush. "I'm tired of a bad thing," said the thrush. "What has that got to do with it?" "I got my pipe on that account."

An Insuperable Objection. "Barrow's wife is a very handsome woman." "But she has an abominably homely face." "What is that?" "Barrow's."
